B.C. Doctors Meeting Here

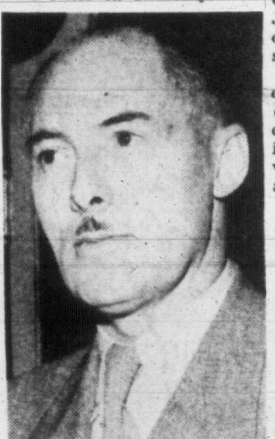

Leading members of the medical profession met in Victoria today as the Canadian Medical Association (B.C. Division), opened its annual convention at Empress Hotel. Dr. Frank Turnbull (left), chairman of the general assembly sessions, is shown chatting with Dr. Ethlyn Trapp, former president of the division, and Dr. Wallace Wilson, one-time president of the C.M.A. All three practice in Vancouver.

New President

Dr. J. A. Ganshorn of Vancouver is president-elect of C.M.A. B.C. Division, and will take office on Thursday.

Past President

Dr. H. A. L. Mooney, Courtenay, is retiring president of the medical association.

MEDICINE NO MYSTERY

Doctors Will Make Policies Public

The medical profession in British Columbia this morning took a long step forward in an attempt to draw back the curtain of mystery which has surrounded the practice of medicine.

At the general assembly of the annual convention of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Medical Association which opened at the Empress Hotel, the delegates:

1. Opened their private deliberations to the press, with no restrictions;

2. Unanimously approved the principle of a weekly radio broadcast to present the "doctor's viewpoint" to the public.

"We are attempting to move away from our previous policy of Olympian isolation," Dr. Gordon Johnston of Vancouver, chairman of the public relations committee, stated in presenting his report.

This is the first time that general assembly has met under the eye of the public. The guiding committee on professional policy in B.C., the assembly has previously met behind closed doors and released no statements.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank Turnbull, Vancouver, the assembly met this morning to consider the treasurer's report, a suggestion for group insurance and pension plans for doctors; and other matters of internal interest in the B.C. division.

Dr. J. A. Ganshorn, Vancouver, president-elect who will take office at the annual dinner Thursday, was named as representative on the board of the Canadian Medical Association. Attempts of Dr. Wallace Wilson and Dr. Ethlyn Trapp to make Dr. Ganshorn's appointment effective for three years instead of one, were defeated.

When the B.C. profession initates its weekly radio broadcasts—likely in late October—it will be the first division of the Canadian Medical Association to do so. Dr. Clarence Routley, executive secretary of the C.M.A., expressed the conviction that other divisions would quickly follow B.C.'s lead.

"I am heartily in favor of bringing our problems out into the open," he stated.

Of the 1,600 doctors in B.C., 976 are members of the B.C. Division, C.M.A., and 105 delegates are representing them at the convention, which continues through Thursday.

Women Hikers Reported Lost Safe and Well

Two young women hikers who left Jordan River Saturday on a trip cross-country to Port Renfrew, arrived back in Jordan River today.

Mrs. M. J. Thornley, Verdier Road, Keating, and Mrs. A. J. Slater, Saturna Island, sisters, telephoned to another sister, Mrs. Lorna Hansen, on their arrival.

They told Mrs. Hansen that at no time were they lost, but that on investigation of an inland trail from Sombrio Point to Port Renfrew, they could see a long hike before them.

Therefore, in order that no alarm would be caused, they turned back to Jordan River, and made plans for a second jaunt next week-end.

Until today the only sign of the girls had been their footprints, seen Sunday on the north side of Loss Creek by a party from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce (see story page 13). They apparently were heading down the trail to Sombrio Point.

When the R.C.M.P. heard to day that one of the girls might not be well, plans for a search were made and South Vancouver Island Rangers were alerted to help if required.

The two young women turned up in perfect health, however.

JOAN BENNETT'S MEETING WITH HUSBAND STIRS RUMORS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15 (BUP)—A meeting between Producer Walter Wanger and Actress Joan Bennett left Hollywood wondering today if they are planning to patch up their broken marriage.

Miss Bennett arrived in Hollywood by plane Sunday night for the opening of a 12-day run of a play "Bell Book and Candle," in which she has the lead. She was met at her Holmby Hills mansion by Wanger, her producer-husband who completed a 102-day jail term Saturday for shooting actor's agent Jennings Lang nine months ago.

A friend of Miss Bennett said the actress did not plan any divorce because she did not want to hurt her husband or their children, Shelley, 4, and Stephanie, 8.

But the meeting Sunday night opened the possibility that the reconciliation try might be worked out.

It ain't much of a step from pickin' cabinet ministers 'y haven't got t' dismissin' a House that hasn't met.

'Pears there ain't no truth t' that rumor that Wack was around t' hotel early t'day 't see if one o' them convention doctors could cure a political headache.

GIMLI AIRMEN CHARGED WITH $15,000 IN THEFTS

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15 (CP)—Seven airmen from the R.C.A.F. station at Gimli, Man., have been charged with the theft of $15,000 worth of clothing and supplies from Air Force stores. The men appeared today in provincial police court and were remanded one week without plea.

The accused are: Reginald Ralph Simmes, John Robert Simpson, Ronald James Vernon Lobb, Alfred Lelliott, James Robert Switzer and Donald James McCallum. None is above the rank of corporal. Simmes and Simpson were released on bail of $10,000 each.

The thefts are alleged to have taken place between Nov. 1, 1951, and last June 30.

R.C.M.P. released no details of the thefts.

$22 MILLION SIREN SIGNAL

Lieut.-Governor Wallace Officially
Opens Island's First Newsprint Mill

By Times Special Representative

DUNCAN BAY, Sept. 15—British Columbia is on the threshold of the greatest industrial boom in its history.

This was the calculated assertion of Paul E. Cooper, vice-president of the Elk Falls Company, at his new plant's formal dedication ceremonies here today. The company's initial $22,000,000 investment in this Vancouver Island pulp and newsprint mill represents its faith in the future of Western Canadian industry's opportunity and its conviction that free enterprise will prosper under sound management, he said.

Hundreds listened to Mr. Cooper's address, which followed the blast of a siren activated by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, and the machinery rolled... as it has done since June 9... producing newsprint at a rate of 2,000 feet per minute.

TOP INDUSTRY

Of the British Columbia pulp and paper industry, Mr. Cooper said: "It is first in employment; first in total wages paid; first in the value of its exports and first in capital investment."

"Its Canada-wide export tonnage is valued at $900,000,000 and provides 24 per cent of all Canadian export dollars and 35 per cent of all our exports to the United States."

"Canada is in its infancy as one of the big industrial nations," he continued. "Canada is the source of more than one-half the entire newsprint supply of the world and, as a nation, is the greatest producer of both pulp and newsprint. The industry today is the greatest breadwinner and creator of national wealth in our country."

PERPETUAL SUPPLY

Perpetual supply of pulpwood for the Duncan Bay plant was the basis of the development, Mr. Cooper said. It operates on salvage, small trees and materials not previously considered of commercial value. By cropping the acres in its forest management preserve, and by introducing new equipment to the industry, the company can assure employees, customers, stockholders and government that a fair balance between timber cut and growth will be maintained, he added.

Guests of the company were shown the operation of what Mr. Cooper termed the "push button" mills.

Canadian Western Lumber Company Ltd. and Pacific Mills Ltd., of which Mr. Cooper is president, joined forces to finance the Duncan Bay undertaking.

Pearson in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 15 (AP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, arrived in Paris today for a meeting with North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials.

Pearson will turn over the post of president of the N.A.T.O. council this week to Ole Bjorn Kraft, Danish foreign minister.

Alert Conductor Averts Disaster In Train Smash

Three Gravely Injured In Head-On Collision

MATTAWA, Ont., Sept. 15 (BUP)—An alert conductor was praised today for averting a "disaster" when the C.P.R.'s crack No. 9 passenger train roared out of a fog and slammed into a second passenger train stopped on the mainline near the Quebec border west of here.

There were 200 passengers aboard both trains and no one was killed. Four crewmen and 104 passengers were shaken up. Six or seven were believed held overnight at Mattawa hospital.

A Canadian Pacific official said upwards of 150 persons might have been killed in the Sunday crash had it not been for the quick thinking of W. H. Quinn, 60, conductor on the eastbound train headed for Montreal.

He pulled emergency brake cord when he saw that his train had passed a siding about four and one-half miles west of Mattawa. He knew the train was to have moved onto the siding to permit the westbound No. 9 to pass.

The eastbound No. 10 was at a dead halt when No. 9 smashed into it and lifted the standing locomotive high into the air. The two engines were welded together by the impact and torches were needed to separate them.

Five cars of express and baggage acted as the buffers that saved the lives of all. The buffer cars were smashed and shredded. The passenger coaches received a terrific jolt but none was damaged or derailed.

"It was like a bolt of lightning hitting us," said Mrs. Ernest Ablette, of Vancouver, who was hospitalized with Henry Lee Cook, Winnipeg, and J. R. Meekes, publisher of the Sudbury (Ont.) Star.

"It was like getting hit with a hammer," she said. "My husband didn't realize what was happening but I thought a bomb had gone off."

Samuel Donaldson, engineer of No. 10, and Victor Morgan, his fireman, both of North Bay, were critically injured and had not regained consciousness 15 hours later. Engineer Sullivan and Regis (Pep) Kelly, crewmen of the second train, also were hospitalized but their condition was considered "fair."

Kelly was a one-time star with the National Hockey League Toronto Maple Leafs.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Nesmith of Harrisburg, Pa., suffered slight cuts.

"I was pretty badly shaken up and my husband strained his neck a bit banging it on the partition," said Mrs. Nesmith. "We think we're pretty lucky to be alive."

"A passenger in the opposite berth—I don't know who he was—slept through the whole thing," her husband said. "He was the only one on the whole train to do so. He woke up later and thought we had stopped at a station somewhere."

One wrecked express car was hurled from the track and cut all telegraph communications between Ottawa and North Bay for several hours. C.P.R. police said it was still not known just how the accident happened but they believed the fog had hidden the signal the eastbound train needed before swiftness on to the siding.

Most of the injured suffered only slight cuts and light bruises. Dozens were sent to Mattawa Hospital for examination. All were taken off the trains and sent to Mattawa and North Bay by bus to continue their trips aboard other trains.

C.P.R. spokesmen termed the collision a "near-tragedy." Victor Sullivan, engineer of No. 9, applied the brakes just before slamming into the standing train. If one of the coaches had been derailed and rolled down the embankment, officials said, it might have dragged both trains down to the bottom of a small lake adjacent to the tracks where all would have been "trapped under water."

Requiem High Mass will be sung for Dr. Garesche Thursday morning at 9 at St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park.

THE LATE DR. A. GARESCHÉ

Dr. Garesche, Famed City Dentist, Dies

Dr. Arthur J. Garesche, who was without question Canada's oldest and longest-practicing dentist, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Dr. Garesche was 91. He would have marked his 92nd birthday next month.

Dr. Garesche had been practicing dentistry for more than 70 years. He'd been looking after Victorians' teeth since 1895.

Born in Volcanville, Calif., he came to Victoria in 1886, when he was six years old.

He moved to Philadelphia later and started work in a railroad machine shop, before deciding to become a dentist. He took his apprenticeship in Portland, Ore.

He kept up his practice until June of this year, when his health finally gave out on him.

He is survived by his wife, Millicent, at the family home, 1155 Fairfield Road; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Cropp and Mrs. Cella Leuder; a grandson, John Leuder, and a granddaughter, Miss Brenda Cropp; one sister, Mrs. Clara Lalne, in Havana, Cuba.

Requiem High Mass will be sung for Dr. Garesche Thursday morning at 9 at St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Settlement In Painters' Strike Seen

Hopes were high this afternoon that a settlement of Victoria's painters' strike might come Thursday.

At a morning meeting of union representatives, and painting contractor negotiators at the Labor Relations Board office, a compromise proposal was drafted which both sides agreed to take back to their membership with a recommendation that the formula be accepted.

Details of the proposed settlement are to be kept secret until painters and contractors meet Wednesday night. The meetings will be separate.

Germany May Buy Surplus of Pork

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (BUP)—only 10,000,000 pounds of canned pork products in store. At this time last year, there was virtually no canned pork, and fresh pork stocks amounted to only 25,000,000 pounds.

After American embargo began, the government bought farmers' surplus pork at support prices and ordered it canned for export and sale on the domestic market.

It was expected that sales to Germany, if they materialized, would be for roughly 25 cents a pound of canned pork.

Erhard said he also touched on the possibility of German purchases of Canadian beef, "but the chances of such purchases materializing are very slight."

The West German economic chief said his country would greatly enlarge its purchases of Canadian goods if it could find more markets here for its exports.

Boyd Still at Large But Case 'Cracking'

Police Believe $26,000 Reward May Bait Trap Underworld Cannot Resist for Long

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (BUP)—The Edwin Alonzo Boyd gang entered a second week of freedom today, apparently no nearer capture than last Monday when the master bank robber and three confederates walked out of Don Jail.

There were indications, however, that the case was beginning to "crack."

Detectives said the Toronto underworld made its first "feeler" for the $26,000 reward money during the week-end and they hoped for a break soon.

Detectives now believed the four still were in the city. "They wouldn't dare move until the heat's off," a senior officer said. They also thought it possible Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Steve Su-chan, Leonard Jackson and William Russell Jackson were still together.

Detective Sergeant Roy Perry, was one of those working hardest to bring them in. "We're still on the hunt, and we're working very hard on it," he said. "But it's tough with so many clues." He said police had checked more than 200 false leads within the city itself.

"But it's no dead end," he said. "We're getting clues all the time—that they've been seen in Vancouver, in New Westminster, B.C., and from all over the country." Despite those rumors, Perry thought Boyd and Co. were still in the provincial capital.

"This is the city they know best," he pointed out. This was where he figured they would have their friends and their money. That, however, might lead eventually to their betrayal and capture.

Perry said dozens of "feelers" were starting to come in from the underworld for the first time.

"It's the money you know," Perry said. He termed this the most "encouraging sign in the search so far." He suspected a great many of the tips and feelers might be forwarded now to ease the strain on the Toronto underworld whose dens and hide-outs are being raided around the clock.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

During convalescence, patients in our local hospitals who have been given blood transfusions receive a card from the Canadian Red Cross Society. It extends to them the society's sincere wishes for complete recovery and expresses the hope that the transfusions have been beneficial.

Stott

"This free blood transfusion service is made available," the card says, "only by the voluntary and generous contributions of blood donated by the public."

"We feel that you would like to pass on this gift to some future patient, and we suggest that you ask your relatives or friends to register as blood donors on your behalf by signing and forwarding this card to the Blood Transfusion Service, Canadian Red Cross Society, 1046 Fort Street, Victoria."

The suggestion is fair and reasonable. It should appeal to the sense of gratitude in the patient and to the sympathy in his relatives or friends for the person lying flat on his back in a hospital bed. The transfusion or transfusions may literally have saved the patient's life.

Yet the response is only medium. And maybe that isn't too hard to explain.

Let me tell you about my own hospital experience. I'm one of those lucky guys who hasn't, so far, needed much attention, but 12 years ago I went into the Jubilee with an abscess on my knee. It wasn't very painful and for five days I was petted and pampered until I felt like a king. When I came out my heart was oozing love and kindness and gratitude to the hospital and the girls in white who'd made me so comfortable.

Unredeemed Pledge

Before they released me—and some insurance I carried covered all the bills—I made a small pledge to myself that I'd write a newspaper feature that would make the nurses seem like angels without wings. I got one of them to copy out the Florence Nightingale oath or whatever you call it, and I was going to show how they worked over and above that dedication.

That was a little more than 12 years ago. Somehow or other I haven't got around to writing the feature yet. Sure, I remember the treatment I received. I'm grateful and I ought to write the story. But shucks, after 13 years waiting, there's no hurry about it. Another day, or week, or month or year won't make much difference.

It seems to me that people who have received transfusions and friends who have wanted to help them when they were in distress probably figure things the same way.

If I'd been given blood, no matter how thankful I was at the time, I think I'd have put the Red Cross card in the pile of "get well" notes, the little messages that came with flowers and cigarettes, magazines and books. I'd have thought that I'd do something about it when I got a little stronger. And the chances are that I'd have put off asking my friends for blood just as I've put off writing that feature on how swell the nurses were to me 12 years ago.

Then I'd get to feeling a little embarrassed about suggesting to my intimates that maybe they ought to give up a pint or two for the blood bank. I'd think they'd be pretty good to me in the hospital anyhow and I'd wonder what further claim I had on them.

Wells of Sympathy

After that I put myself in the place of a man visiting a friend in the hospital. I see the patient in bed, looking as cheerful as he can be, and I want to do something to help him get his health back as quickly as possible. If somebody suggested I give a pint, I'd want to roll up my sleeve and run down to any place they'd stick in a drain and syphon off some blood. Maybe I'm just the emotional type.

But a few weeks later, when the guy's up and around, looking about as well as I am, my sympathy seems to cool off a bit. I will think I ought to help replace the blood he may have been given, but the urgency has passed. Sure, I'll give them some blood, only there's no desperate rush about it, is there?

Now a mature person shouldn't see things that way. He should not want to be dramatic and impulsive. He ought to recognize the continuing need for blood. It ought to mean something to him when he reads or hears the appeals and the regrets expressed when insufficient donors turn up at clinics.

Still, if there are many like me, I think the blood bank people might find a pretty good response if they could tap our sympathy when it's welling up in a hospital room. If they could figure out a way of dating us then, I think they'd have more guests at the coffee and biscuits parties they call blood clinics in Red Cross House.

Dragnet Ready For Fugitives

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 15 (UPI)—A five-state dragnet for three slippery federal fugitives centred today in this area where state and local police and F.B.I. agents patrolled all highways and search planes flew overhead.

The escaped convicts were Joseph Nolen, 26, his brother, Ballard, 22, both of Whitely County, Ky., and Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago. Since they fled the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., last Wednesday, they have led authorities on a twisting, turning path of kidnapping, robbery and knifing through eastern Pennsylvania.

There was no definite indication of the whereabouts of the fugitives, described by the F.B.I. as "vicious and desperate" and "extremely dangerous." But authorities believed they were "holed up" somewhere near here, waiting for the manhunt to "cool off."

Arthur Cornelius, special agent in charge of the F.B.I.'s Philadelphia office, was directing

United Europe In 'Blueprint'

Constitutional Convention Asks States Outside Plan to Work Toward Confederacy

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 15 (AP)—Europe's first international constitutional convention today asked European states outside its own six-country membership to join in work on a blueprint for a united western Europe.

The delegates from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—the Schuman plan countries—got off to a quick start on their constitution-drafting task with the unanimous election of Belgian Paul-Henri Spaak as their president.

The vote to hear observers from members of the 14-country council of Europe represented a gesture to Britain, which so far has confined its participation in moves toward European unity to membership in the council.

West Germany led the drive to silence the non-Schuman countries, but French Socialist Guy Mollet forced the issue with a demand to decide at once "whether our confederation is supposed to be open to all who want to become members or associates, or whether it is to be a closed corporation limited to the six-Schuman plan nations."

The vote admitting the other countries to the debate was 49 to 0, with four abstentions.

The convention's speedy start posed a new challenge to Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain, who arrived Sunday night from London to outline Britain's position.

The British diplomat is the author of his own Eden plan to co-ordinate such supra-national European communities as the Schuman group and projected European defense community under the council of Europe, of which Britain is a member. Some advocates of continental unity see the Eden plan as a British attempt to brake progress toward a European federation.

Britain has argued for an overall linking which she can join, with smaller groupings in various fields which she can stay out of if she desires.

The six-country constitutional assembly that met today had places for 87 members—78 representatives in the Schuman plan assembly plus three additional delegates each from France, West Germany and Italy.

The extra Germans were missing, however, following the decision of German Socialists to boycott the group.

Elgar Choir's Sweet Voices Charm Hearers

Four hundred persons came away from Esquimalt High School Saturday night greatly impressed with the talents of 26 young British Columbians.

The youngsters, members of the Elgar Choir, performed at the school under sponsorship of the Esquimalt Lions Club. Their concert here marked the group's second to last appearance before disbanding. Their final concert was given Sunday night in Vancouver.

This year's edition of the Elgar Choir was recruited from all parts of the province last winter. For three months this summer the group toured Greater Britain.

Two Esquimalt members, Kitty Dixon, 448 Admirals Road, and Mimi Bavin, 1149 Wychbury, were featured in the Saturday night concert. Both took solo parts. In addition, Miss Dixon appeared in a trio selection and Miss Bavin in a duet.

Sam Lane of the Esquimalt Lions Club was master of ceremonies. Frank Mitchell, M.L.A., spoke during intermission.

Though delighted with the tour, both Esquimalt girls are glad to be home. They agreed Victoria still rates top spot on their list of nice cities.

Travelers to Stage Christmas Pantomime

A Christmas pantomime will be staged this year by the Victoria branch of the Associated Commercial Travelers in aid of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

The show will be Hans Christian Andersen's "Snow Queen." It will be presented Dec. 15 and 16 at the Royal Theatre.

The show will be cast shortly. Singers interested in taking part should contact H. B. Binney at E 1295.

STUBBORN, UNDOSED, UNHARMED

TOKYO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Masae Motohashi made such a fuss that her father let her go to bed without taking her medicine. After all, you can argue just so much with a three-year-old.

A few hours later a neighbor pounded on the door. He had heard a special radio broadcast. The druggist who mixed Masae's prescription for ringworm had made a horrible mistake. The dose he delivered was so strong it would kill a child.

Masae—stubborn, undosed and unharmed—slept through it all.

South Koreans Nab Women Spies

PUSAN, Korea, Sept. 15 (AP)—South Korean police have smashed a band of 17 women spies operating from within the United Nations organization, the government announced today.

Police arrested 17 women, including two alleged ringleaders. The announcement followed by one day a disclosure that a spy ring of 17 men had been broken up.

The two leaders were identified as Miss Pak Chingun, 25, and Miss Yoon Chul Sung, 24, both graduates of the Seoul Women's Medical College. The government said Miss Pak received special Communist training in North Korea. She has been working in a U.N. unit.

Lakehead Grain Handlers Reject Offer, Strike Threatens Thursday

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 15 (CP).—Some 1,500 Lakehead grain handlers Sunday night rejected the latest wage concessions of 15 elevator companies, and reiterated their intention of going on strike September 18 unless a favorable settlement is reached in the meantime.

In a closed meeting at the Lakehead Exhibition Auditorium, the elevator employees heard reports from committees which have been negotiating with the companies at Winnipeg.

Acceptance of the latest offer was not put to a vote. Union leaders said the men agreed management's compromise did not go far enough "to warrant formal consideration."

The meeting was attended by Frank Hall, of Montreal, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Steamship and Railway Clerks (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), bargaining agent for the grain men, and J. L. Pateman of Winnipeg, general chairman of the brotherhood.

Unless an agreement is reached within the next four days, the strike will tie up eastward movement of grain at a crucial period—the harvesting of western Canada's bumper wheat crop of 656,000,000 bushels.

Negotiations were to be resumed here today. The talks at Winnipeg ended Thursday without agreement.

Union leaders declined to mention what was contained in the companies' latest offer, but Mr. Hall said it definitely was not $1.50, a figure mentioned in a Winnipeg newspaper report.

The union is seeking a basic wage rate of $1.62 an hour, 40-hour week, and a closed shop. Earlier they rejected a conciliation board's recommendation of $1.27 an hour, a 44-hour week and a voluntary check-off system for union dues.

Free Booklet Tells How Deaf Hear Again With Startling Clarity, Ease

CHICAGO (Special).—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by a noted Chicago acoustical scientist.

He reported that through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible to overcome deafness even if the loss is severe.

He demonstrated how the deaf can hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible. According to this electronic engineer, Mr. Sam Posen of Belmont, "the longer a hearing loss is neglected, the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what may be done to help the deaf hear again with miraculous clarity, full authoritative details about deafness and how to overcome it are described in an informative, new, illustrated booklet, which will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 965A, Belmont Hearing Aid Co., 1480 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill. A postcard will do.

'NO MORAL LEADERSHIP' Materialism Of West Hit

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG
HAMILTON, Sept. 15 (CP)—A report of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service which caused lively debate at Saturday's session of the 15th biennial General Council of the United Church of Canada will come up for discussion again this week.

The report entitled "Evangelism for Today" calls pride, paganism and profligacy—the products of North America's power and its materialistic philosophy—the dangers to the good life and the work of evangelism.
It was introduced by Rev. J. R. Mutchmor of Toronto, secretary of the board, after he had delivered an address demanding the appointment of a royal commission on crime for Ontario.
After the heated debate on the report, time ran out without the council voting on it. Debate was put over to this week.
The section of the report which caused the controversy reads: "This General Council, aware that the Christian church, confronted by such adversaries as pride, paganism and profligacy—the products of North America's power and its materialistic philosophy—and the dangers to the good life and the work of evangelism."
Rev. Norman Rawson of Hamilton asked the words "North America's power be substituted by 'our power.'"
He said that two years ago he had found on a trip to Europe that America was looked on as the hope of the world. After a trip through Europe and the Middle East this year the situation had changed, despite the fact that the United States had spent millions to bolster those countries against Communism.

'I'm Not Afraid of Moscow'

The United States today is one of the most unpopular, one of the most looked to and one of the most feared powers in the Middle East, "and the Communists are vying on that power and fear."
Mr. Rawson said he had suggested substituting the phrase "our power" for "North America's power" because it would add ammunition to Moscow propaganda.
Dr. Mutchmor said: "I'm not afraid of Moscow. We must look at these matters in the light of what the New Testament teaches, and then act upon it. If there is evil in our midst we must recognize it."
After several speakers had supported Mr. Rawson's suggestion Dr. Mutchmor said that although he was against deleting the "North American" reference he would substitute "our power" if the council wished.
Then, just before the debate was adjourned, Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the General Council and one of the most influential leaders in the church, arose on the platform and said:
"I tell you, you are making a mistake. Communism didn't arise in the East, it arose in the West. America worships free enterprise like a fetish, and when it comes to helping other nations it too often means supporting some rotten regime. We belong to a system that is materialistic and for that reason we cannot assume moral leadership of the world."

Doukhobor Charged With Starting Fire

NELSON, B.C., Sept. 15 (BUP).—Paul Popoff, Doukhobor carpenter who served a sentence in the provincial penitentiary for arson, was charged today with setting fire to the nearly-completed home of a fellow Doukhobor.
Popoff's arrest at Brilliant, B.C., Saturday, followed Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigation into the blaze that caused $1,500 damage to the home of John Bloodoff at Castlegar. It was the first arrest on charges of arson in the East Kootenay "Doukhobor area" in several months.

U.S. HORSE OWNERS TAKEN FOR A 'RIDE'

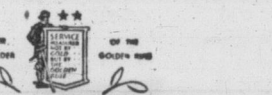

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 15 (BUP).—Dennis Tyler, 27, and Jack Howard, 21, left by horseback for their Las Vegas casinos today after finding out they could lose their money just as easily at Canadian race tracks as at fancy Nevada casinos.
Tyler and Howard arrived here three months ago with four thoroughbred horses and a small stake. They entered the horses at local race meets, determined to win a roll and return to Nevada in fine style.
The horses finished in the money once. Feed bills, entry fees and miscellaneous debts ate up their stake. Putting two of the horses up for sale, they decided to ride the other two back home.

"Shouldn't be too tough on the horses," Tyler said. "They were raised among sage brush and rocks in rough country."
The two figured it would take from three to four months to make the 1,300-mile trip. "Once we get beyond Seattle, Wash., there's a lot of open country," Howard added.
Howard's brunette wife, Pat, said she would drive home with two jockeys.
"I'll stick a candle in the window and wait for the boys," she said.

Church of Christ Protests Police Action in Italy

ROME, Sept. 15 (UP).—The American head of a Protestant mission whose regular Sunday morning services were blocked by Italian police planned today to present a "strong protest" in court.
Cune R. Paden, 33, of Brownfield, Tex., said he had instructed two attorneys to take the issue before the Rome court of magistrates. Paden heads the Church of Christ mission here.
Police Sunday morning surrounded Paden's home, in the same building where the services normally are held, and refused entrance to visitors on the grounds the mission did not have a necessary "cult" permit.
Paden said his group went to another part of town in the afternoon and held services at the home of an Italian minister, Roberto Berdini.

College Prepares Evening Courses

Registrations in Variety of Lectures Will Include Non-Credit Students

Non-credit courses being offered by the Evening Division of Victoria College this fall are "wide-open," Prof. Robert Wallace, director, said today.

"All you need is interest in the topic being discussed," he said.
"We at the evening division feel we have a service to perform in the community to give people an opportunity to receive instruction in subjects of interest, that they would not otherwise get," he added.

A person wishing to take a credit course must have university entrance but there are no prerequisites for the non-credit courses.

Last fall and spring, a total of 798 adults took courses at Victoria College Evening Division.

"We anticipate an equally heavy enrolment this year," Prof. Wallace said.

REGISTRATION DATES

Persons wishing to take credit courses must register in person from 7.30 to 9.30 Sept. 23 and 25.
Registrations will be accepted in Economics 200; Mathematics 201; English 100-101; German 90 and Geography 101. Lectures will not start until the following week. Number of courses given will depend on enrolment. Full university credits will be awarded on successful completion of courses.

SYNOPSIS—A mass of cold air was slowly pushing into B.C. this morning but there is very little cloud or precipitation associated with the intrusion. A few showers were reported down and in the Cariboo but these have now ended. Some cloudiness is likely in the interior during the day as the cold air pushes on into the province but the coast will be mostly clear. Some increase in cloud may be expected on the north coast Tuesday as another Pacific storm develops but the remainder of the province will be clear.

Temperature will be a little cooler with frost occurring in most sections of the interior again tonight.

The General's Biggest Battle

TO FOREIGNERS AT LEAST it seems pretty obvious that General Eisenhower is finding a Presidential election campaign more baffling than any military battle.

A year ago, when the Eisenhower boom was beginning, his nomination was generally considered tantamount to election. The Republicans who wanted him as leader thought he could not be defeated at the polls. It was for this reason mainly that a party convention, well organized for Senator Taft, switched to the general, as a sure winner. But as the summer doldrums move toward the active campaign of autumn these assumptions no longer are safe.

The first obstacle in General Eisenhower's march toward the White House was the unexpected discovery of a powerful Democratic candidate. In Governor Stevenson the ruling party evidently has found a brilliant, educated and highly attractive personality who, almost unknown until recently, already has made a strong impact on the public.

The voters probably would reject a Democrat who seemed to be only the picked heir of President Truman but in Mr. Stevenson they see a candidate who clearly is his own man, who has never been touched by the Washington scandals, who has his own views on public affairs and, in some respects, is critical of the government.

When the Republicans are campaigning very largely on the cry that it is time for a change, Mr. Stevenson can offer a change in government without a change in party.

But there is more to General Eisenhower's dilemma than the personality of his opponent. There remains the basic fact that the Democratic party is still the majority party in the nation. The Republican party has never secured more than 22.3 million votes. The minimum Democratic vote in recent elections has been 22.8 millions. It reached 27.8 millions under Roosevelt and stood at 24.1 millions in 1948.

Moreover, having healed its breach on the civil rights issue, the Democratic party can count on a pretty solid South, which can provide it with nearly half the votes in the electoral college. The mathematics and the geography are both set against the Republicans and only the magic of General Eisenhower's name is likely to outweigh them.

That magic may be enough, combined with the age and the mistakes of the administration, but so far it has not proved as electric as the outside world expected. It is too early yet to judge General Eisenhower's campaign which has only just begun and will hardly hit its stride before the middle of September but to date he does not seem to have raised a concrete issue, apart from the corruption of the government, which the voters can get their teeth into.

The General must soon choose between an all-out attack on the government, a Truman-style "give 'em hell at the whistle stops" or a quiet appeal to sanity, based on the candidate's known character. For it seems unlikely that he will care to open up the really fundamental issues which touch the society of the United States, that he will quarrel with the social revolution which began with Roosevelt's New Deal and has gone on from there. He is in danger of falling into Mr. Dewey's position of seeming to endorse the main course of the Democratic administration in the last two decades and quarrelling only with some details.

Nevertheless, the Republican candidate is still the favorite of the public opinion polls, which give him a lead of some 7 per cent over Mr. Stevenson. This lead, if it continued until the election, might be sufficient to assure a Republican victory but it might not, depending on the distribution of the vote.

In practical terms General Eisenhower's task, assuming a solid Democratic south, is to carry the north almost solidly. This he must do if he is to win. Mr. Stevenson, on the other hand, could win with southern backing if he could carry a few of the populous northern states with their large delegations in the electoral college, and it will be surprising indeed if he cannot carry the key state of New York, which Mr. Truman carried in 1948 despite Henry Wallace's revolt inside the Democratic party.

Altogether the campaign becomes more doubtful and tight as it goes along, and so far it has told the American people and the world little that they did not know before.

Let's End This Now

THERE IS CERTAINLY NO ROOM for complacency or inaction in the situation that is developing on Yates Street between Blanchard and Douglas.

When louts and hoodlums cause obstruction on the sidewalks and in shop entrances, when women find it advisable to take some other route at night than the main section of one of the city's main streets, when tax-paying merchants dare not publicize their names, in making complaints to the police, for fear of retaliation from a rabble of ill-mannered youths with less than normal mental equipment, then it is high time something was done.

That "something" should be quick, drastic and complete. If we have not at present a city ordinance to prevent what is complained of on Yates Street, then we should pass one without delay and see that it is rigidly enforced. If such laws are already on the books, let the police reconsider their plea of "not enough men," and move in on these young fellows without hesitation. If certain personnel must be removed from tagging over-parked cars for a day or two let this change be made. Resolute action, followed by stiff fines, quick imprisonment or other measures, would clean this nonsense up once and for all within a night or two. Hoodlum gangs are only one short step removed from organized crime. What are we waiting for?

The Door Is Wide Open

TAKING NOTE OF DR. MALAN'S latest threats that South Africa might leave the Commonwealth in the event of interference in her internal affairs, the Ottawa Journal remarks that such a departure would not be difficult to carry out.

"There is no compulsory membership in the Commonwealth," the Journal points out. "Countries are not invited to stand for election as to a club and they are never blackballed or ejected."

We might go a little farther, though, and say that if the racial theories of Dr. Malan are fully applied in the Union, the Commonwealth might well, in an unofficial sort of way, suggest to the South African government that the "family of nations" could get along nicely without it.

Admittedly there would be economic and other repercussions. But if the strength of the Commonwealth, its value to its members and to the outside world, lies in its championship of democratic ideals; if it is an association of peoples of like aspirations and spirit rather than nations seeking merely a favored buyer-seller relationship; if it is to retain any leadership and prestige in the turbulent times ahead, then acceptance, tacit or otherwise, of Dr. Malan's apartheid doctrines can only do it harm.

For that reason the South African government leader's threats of secession had better not be a bluff. His restriction of voting privileges, his public espousal of discriminatory laws, his attempts to establish a category of second-class citizenship in his country, can never be acceptable to the other members of the Commonwealth. In plain words, the things Dr. Malan stands for are not the things the Commonwealth stands for.

If condoning Dr. Malan's actions meant the loss of Indian and Pakistani support for instance, the former admirer of Hitler would find little backing among the nations which make up the world-wide group. His threats of withdrawal might be accepted with embarrassing promptness. Dr. Malan is no asset to the Commonwealth. Someone by now must have told him.

Bilingual, But Not Very

IN COURT OF APPEAL LAST WEEK a barrister wished to refer to a Quebec case. In order to bring it before the court it was necessary to obtain a translation in English—a feat he accomplished by enlisting the aid of the Sisters of St. Ann. The translators won suitable acknowledgment from the bench.

It is not expected that barristers or judges should have command of French in British Columbia courts, but the incident draws pointed attention to Canadian claims of bilingualism. We are bilingual in the sense that English and French are recognized for some official use in this country. But in practice the recent census shows that of a 14,000,000 population only 1,727,000 are competent in both languages. Most of them are of Quebec origin with French-speaking backgrounds.

For generations thousands of western Canadians have been going through the laborious high school process of studying to pass examinations in French. They begin with the simple exercise of translating "the pen is on the desk" or some equivalent, and end with the headaches of verbs in the subjunctive. Almost invariably they signalize the completion of their studies by writing a final test paper and saying "That's that." French, thenceforth, becomes for them a means of not-too-nimble greeting and has a conversational gambit of perhaps 30 seconds, after which vocabulary and grammatical knowledge are exhausted and the "scholars" revert to English.

Still we refer to Canadian bilingualism. We are under-rating ourselves terribly. We're multi-lingual.

In Victoria we have people who speak Chinese and English, Hindustani and English, Greek and English, Ukrainian and English. Bilingual? Collectively Canadians use many tongues. It would be preferable, of course, if more Canadians gained proficiency in the two languages which have official status. But at that, it might be better to concentrate first on fluency in one.

Will all those who have mastered English please raise their right hands?

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

A FRIEND of mine wanted to get married this summer. So did his young lady, which made it unanimous. But he was in the middle of a summer job, an entirely seasonal thing that couldn't wait, which meant little or no formal honeymoon in any usual sense of going to some costly and crowded resort. Fortunately, his work took him into some of the most delightful parts of B.C.'s wilderness, and he is allowed to bring a wife on all but his winter journeys. More happily still, on this particular jaunt he would have had to hire an assistant anyhow, so his bosses let him hire his wife instead, at $1.05 an hour plus certain expenses. Any girl can get married, if she goes about it the right way, and most girls can have some sort of honeymoon. But not many get paid $1.05 an hour for it. I fancy, in fact, I bet you some of them barely break even.

OLD BOY, OLD BOY

I WAS never able to figure out just how I landed up at Brentwood College. It wasn't a family tradition to send my four brothers and myself off to boarding schools. Two of them went through the Naval College at Esquimalt, and one through the Military College at Kingston, but that's different.

All through my youth I spent a great deal of time in bed, what with colds, croup, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis, tonsillitis, and two nifty goes of pneumonia. As a result of such nonsense, I was packed off to a prep school in the Okanagan for a year, and in this climate I shook off some of the old pulmonary pests. But after that, I was packed off to Brentwood. I never knew why. Saanich didn't have the same climate as Vernon, and in any event I was now pretty healthy, in a modest way, so it wasn't the same thing at all. I saw the fallacy here at once, but was too shy to point it out at home.

AND so, for more than a generation, I have been a Brentwood Old Boy, or Old Brentonian. (That on-line business sounds mighty shaky word-making to me, but then my education is mighty shaky, too.)

I may not be an Old Boy in very good standing, and I sometimes get the impression that the more fervent Old Boys (who are far older in spirit and more boylike than I am) . . . I often feel that these zealots regard me as a lost sheep and a pretty black sheep at that. In fact, one of them told me only last month that I haven't changed a bit. He said it with some asperity, so I gathered this was a nasty crack. I told him that at least he remembered me, which was more than I could say of him.

I TOLD him a lot of other things, and before he removed himself from the contamination of my presence, he gave me some free advice about 26 years too late. He said I could only get out of a school what I put into it. By the time I detected all the sophistry in this remark he had gone. So I'll tell you what's wrong with his theory, instead of telling him.

For one thing, it is much more accurate to say you can only get out of a school what the masters and your fellow pupils put in. Especially the masters. For another thing, I didn't put a slightly cynical and mocking air into the school, but I took it out with me all right. And finally, I didn't put X, a master, or Y, a pupil, into that school. But I got them out again, with the help of several dozen other chaps. Or so it has always amused me to think.

WELL, playmates, the other day I had a letter from the Old Boys. As you probably know, most of the school burnt down some time ago. Which, of course, is why I can now discuss it with a certain amount of badinage and persiflage; it's not there any more. But the chapel still stands, and is used for public worship by the residents of the district. Some of the Old Boys are contributing to a fund which will build a Sunday school and a vestry for the chapel. This is very generous of them, and will be much appreciated in the district. Far be it from me to laugh at a generous impulse like that. But I'm afraid I laughed when they asked me to send the present incumbent my memories of "incidents of interest during the various phases of the chapel's construction."

WE HADN'T got very far with the building during my time, though we used to put in about two afternoons a week on it. But I have some memories, all the same. The chief memory is that these work-parties were supposed to be voluntary. This theory impressed our parents and the visiting clergy, but there was nothing in it. We had no choice. The forced labor was probably extremely good for us, while the theory may have encouraged a taste for irony, a useful gift through life.

The next most vivid memory is of Alex Z. inventing brand new oaths to express his loathing for carpentry, and for boys who dropped two-by-fours on him from a great height. The building was not yet consecrated, so the oaths were less sinful than they otherwise might have been, but they gave the supervising carpenter a new respect for education. We wrote some of them down on a bit of wood and dropped it into the false buttress which stands nearest the northeast corner, where it is now preserved for future students of a living language.

Parting Glance

Winnipeg Free Press

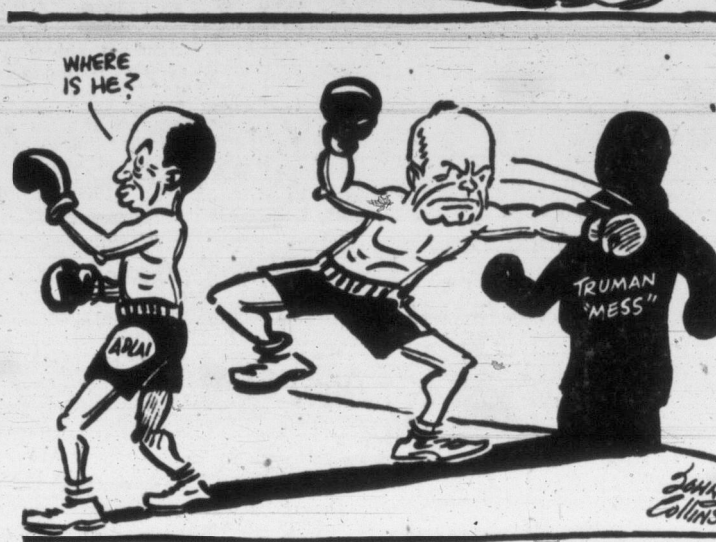

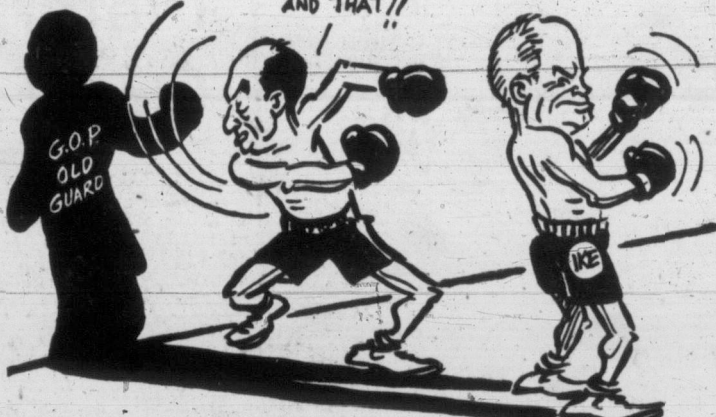

Gertrude Lawrence, now dead, had the usual complaint of the artist against the public. She knew periods of neglect, the irritation of false praise, the tedium of weak plays, the sudden blaze of popularity followed by the shadows of oblivion.

But she also knew, for many long years, the joy of success and the security of fame on the Broadway and London stage. She lived fully and impetuously; now her flame is spent.

Never a supreme artist, Gertrude Lawrence was always a talented one, with a gift for laughter. Because of her gay and creative spirit, she deserves this glance as she vanishes from sight.

OUT OF TUNE?

In view of the fact that the donor of the bells of the Douglas Street Church has passed on, now might be a fitting time to discontinue these bells. They have for a very long period been out of tune and monotonous, and many visitors and residents who live near that hotel area complain of the many out-of-tune notes which are disturbing, and far from tuneful.

"RETURN VISITOR"

URGES HIGH TEXTILE PRICES

Should Canada give Japan most-favored-nation tariff treatment?

Regardless of Canada's sincere desire to assist Japan's return to a solvent position among the company of free nations, the answer we give at the Geneva tariff talks in October must be guided by the inevitable impact of a tariff reduction on the Canadian economy.

The Canadian textile industry, to mention only one of the obvious victims of a lower tariff, would suffer drastically. Because of the trade depression, there have been upwards of 100,000 either laid off or working part time. Even in good times, foreign mills sell one-third of the Canadian market. What would happen if the tariff were reduced?

The Canadian mills sell mainly to the Canadian market. A textile industry can compete in world markets only if it has the advantage of low-cost labor—as in Japan, where wages are one-sixth of Canadian wages—or mass production—as in the United States. The Canadian industry has neither of these advantages. If it is worthwhile, as an employer and as an essential industry in an emergency, it is worth protecting.

Finally, a higher share of the relatively small Canadian market would not be of decisive help in diminishing Japan's huge surplus. But a flood of low cost Japanese goods could ruin the Canadian industry.

CARS AND TAXES

Today one is impressed by the number and variety of motor cars crowding the city streets, and the thought comes to the amateur economist, especially the non owner, "what a lovely thing to put a tax on." Another thought naturally follows: "Are these machines adequately taxed."

On enquiry it is quite evident the motor car is well taken care of in this respect, only as usual the province and the Dominion take all the easy money.

Would it not be a gracious and handsome thing if the governments concerned were to hand over the revenue derived from the motor car (direct and indirect) to the cities of the country to assist them in their never-ending battle against increasing costs in administration?

The proud and haughty suburbs that fringe most Canadian cities would fall over themselves in order to join with the cities and get in on the cheaper rate which would undoubtedly follow.

The governments concerned, of course, could go and look for something else to tax outside the cities.

ADVICE

My answer to "Alert" of the 6th inst., regarding the solution of strikes and future election issues is conditional on obedience to the Divine challenge. "If thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to observe and to do all His commandments" (Deut. 28:1). This epitomizes a perfect economic and political system, the establishment of which would be the never-has-been prosperity and contentment stated in the next 12 verses—a veritable Utopia.

It is widely preached, and believed, that the law of the Lord above referred to was done away with and is now obsolete. Let those who so assert read that supreme of sermons, the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew, chapters 5 to 8, in which this passage occurs—"Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets. I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil, for verily I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled."

Surely we can believe this Christly ratification that those laws promulgated at Sinai (except the ordinances of worship) were never abrogated or impaired, but are still in force. They only need to be put into operation. It is the responsibility of our politicians to do so.

But "Alert" waxes facetious, a mood I enjoy right heartily. The only person I can suggest who might settle this chronic epidemic of "strike" madness is Joe Stalin. He knows all about election issues, too. Ask him.

Still the Breadbasket

Edmonton Journal

In any list of globe-trotters, the Canadian wheat crop must rank high. It may not come back and write books about its travels, but it certainly gets around.

Figures just released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that, during the crop year 1951-52, Canada exported 356,100,000 bushels of wheat—304,700,000 bushels as grain and 51,300,000 in the form of flour. Of this total 36 per cent of the grain went to our biggest customer, Britain. The rest went to some 40 countries and colonies, while no less than 73 purchased Canadian flour.

One indication of the extent of the trade is a list of the countries which bought flour equivalent to 1,000,000 bushels or more of wheat. It includes the Philippines, Venezuela, Italy, Trinidad, Cuba, Jamaica, Egypt, Hong Kong and Lebanon—the whole circuit of the globe.

Now another huge crop is being harvested and will soon set out on its travels. If anyone wants to sing "Where is our wandering wheat tonight?" the answer is "practically everywhere."

Strange Bedfellows In the G.O.P.

By JOSEPH ALSOP
(From Indianapolis, Ind.)

THESE WORDS ARE WRITTEN IN the aftermath of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's triumph but not always happy invasion of Indianapolis. Two things happened here. For the first time since his return from Europe, Eisenhower recaptured all his old power to move and stir an audience. And he also distastefully embraced Sen. William E. Jenner, who has described Gen. George Marshall, the father of Eisenhower's greatness, as a "living lie" and a "front man for traitors."

These were great events, which are said to have assured an Eisenhower victory in Indiana in November. Yet even as the first Wisconsin primary returns came in, these events in Indiana were already overshadowed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's sweeping victory. It is not too much to say that the Eisenhower high command were appalled by the completeness of McCarthy's sweep.

And well they might be. In his sole speech of the primary campaign, McCarthy publicly showed his contempt for Eisenhower by sneering at "well-meaning persons" who deplore "character assassination" and "witch-hunting"—the very phrase used by Eisenhower himself.

In the same speech, McCarthy also implied that he, and he virtually alone, would carry the Republican party to victory this year, with a typical McCarthy-style onslaught on Adlai E. Stevenson as his weapon. After winning by such a wide margin in Wisconsin, McCarthy is now free to intervene in the national campaign in just the manner he has already hinted at.

His aim, of course, will be to build himself up even further as a national figure—it would be in character for McCarthy to be thinking of himself even now as a presidential possibility. He will undoubtedly stage his peculiar brand of political vaudeville wherever Republican leaders offer him a stage. Here in the Midwest, he will not lack for invitations. From the standpoint of Eisenhower's national strategy, it will be bad enough to see McCarthy emerge as a leading campaign figure.

OTHER FACTORS

But there are other factors which must also be considered. Here in Indiana, for instance, the local Republican organization, though solidly and violently pro-Taft, gave a warm welcome to Gen. Eisenhower for the sake of Sen. Jenner. Jenner himself, wanting Eisenhower's aid in his campaign for reelection, went to Chicago to promise the general that he would rise above principle, and would follow Eisenhower's policies in the Senate. While Eisenhower was here, Jenner kept a positive death-grip on the general's coat-tails. But when the news came from Wisconsin, the mood changed.

"This was what Bill really needed," was a typical comment of one of Jenner's delighted henchmen. "McCarthy will put Bill over now." In other words, Jenner's dependence on Eisenhower is thought to have been greatly reduced, without lessening Eisenhower's dependence on the local Republican organization.

Meanwhile, several of the local leaders are reported to be pouting because Eisenhower did not endorse Jenner by name and praise his singular record. The State Chairman, Cale Holder, is also quoted as saying that "until Bob Taft blows the bugle, a lot of us aren't going to fight in the army."

In short, although Gen. Eisenhower scored a remarkable hit in Indianapolis, he has not quite solved his Indiana problem, and the problem has been made worse by the McCarthy victory.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"I SEE," SAID THE ELEVATOR MAN, "where the civil defense people in New York have had quite a disappointment. They were going to try out a new air raid siren the other day. It was an ordinary siren, you understand, but a real rouser. It was powered by an eight-cylinder engine and they figured it would make the biggest noise ever heard in the city. They warned all the population what was coming, so there wouldn't be a panic. Then they towed the screamer out into the harbor and turned it on full blast. Observers located in various parts of town waited and waited, but they didn't hear anything. And it finally dawned on them that there were so many city noises around them, from the traffic and so on, that they couldn't hear the siren. It just got lost in the crowd. Going up!"

"Well," said the Elevator Man, "I don't know just what the solution for that problem is. But if they find one they ought to let the rest of mankind know about it because we're all in much the same predicament—as the New Yorkers. We make so much roar and racket in our daily lives that we can't hear the warning signals. The signals are there all right, but they can't pierce the curtain of sound we throw up. You have to go away to some quiet place to hear them—a church after all the crowd has left, maybe, or out in the woods beside a still pool, or perhaps away down inside you in the quiet places where the outside world never penetrates. The trouble is, it's getting harder all the time to find quiet spots where the warnings are audible. Mostly we're caught up in the frenzied traffic—the honking, the yelling, the clashing of gears and the roar of machinery. If an eight-cylinder siren can't be heard, what chance has a still, small voice? Lower main!"

"Few of us, though," said the Elevator Man, "are deliberately deaf, like the fella in the story. The cop stopped him for 'driving like a jet plane.' I was trying to go faster than sound," said the motorist. "I'm tired of listening to my wife!"

How much STEAK in a side of BEEF?

Know the facts before buying meats for freezer storage ...

* In an average side of beef weighing 270 pounds, only about 31 pounds are T-bone, sirloin and porterhouse steak. Or just a little more than one-tenth of the side of beef - as indicated by the shaded area in the diagram.

* Some 45 pounds of this side of beef are complete waste to the consumer. This is waste other than the normal amount of bone and fat left on the individual cuts for good cooking. Also, there are roughly 70 pounds that are "cheaper cuts" - boiling beef, brisket, ground beef, kidney, etc.

When you figure the cost of a side of beef purchased at so-called "wholesale" price, you find that the edible cuts, bought individually at Safeway, would cost no more.

Pains, distress of "those days" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

• Here's wonderful news for women and girls who — each month — suffer the tortures of "bad days" of functionally-caused menstrual cramps and pain — headaches, backaches, and those "no-good," dragged-out feelings.

It's news about a medicine well-known for relieving such suffering!

Here's the exciting news. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — gave complete or striking relief of such distress in an average of 3 out of 4 of the cases in doctors' tests!

Yes! Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action!

Thousands benefited!

This news will not surprise the thousands of women and girls who know the relief Lydia Pinkham's can bring.

And it should encourage you to see if your experience doesn't match theirs... to see if you, too, don't avoid the nervousness, tension, weakness, irritability and pain—so often associated with "those days"!

Try Lydia Pinkham's Compound... or new, improved Tablets (with added iron).

Both are grand, too—for those "hot flashes" and other distresses common to "change of life"!

How Lydia Pinkham's works
It has a "calming" and soothing effect on the uterus... quieting the contractions (see the chart) that so often cause menstrual pain, cramps, other distress.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Stringent laboratory tests show that T.C.P., the new 4-way-action Antiseptic, will inhibit growth of the fungi which is responsible for Athlete's Foot. T.C.P. even diluted with 100 parts water, is effective against the growth of these organisms. That is why T.C.P. used straight from the bottle has such a rapid and positive action. Simply dab on T.C.P. 2 to 4 times daily. It will soothe and help quickly to relieve irritation, dry up exuding "blisters" between the toes and help promote clean, rapid healing. This is just one of the many uses for this new 4-way-action antiseptic. T.C.P. with full directions is now available at all drug stores.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

FOR PERSONS IN ARREARS OF PREMIUM PAYMENT OR PERSONS NOT REGISTERED WITH B.C.H.I.S.

SUSPENSION OF ARREARS—Effective September 9, 1952, all premium arrears for the years, 1949, 1950 and 1951 will be suspended. Persons who are delinquent or who have never registered, can re-establish themselves with the Service by paying the current year's premium (see rates below). They will become eligible for full Hospital Insurance benefits fourteen days after making their payment. Persons whose financial circumstances have prevented them from paying their arrears will not be asked to do so. Persons who can well afford to pay their arrears will be required to do so.

The current year's premium for persons with one or more dependents is $40.50, made up of $21.00 for the period from January 1/52 to June 30/52, and $19.50 for the period from July 1/52 to December 31/52 (this includes the recently-announced premium reduction), which totals $40.50 for the full year's premium. A single person's premium would amount to $28.50 for the year 1952.

Persons taking advantage of this arrears suspension to re-establish themselves should attach to their cheque their last billing notice, or quote their registration number. If they have never registered before, the Service should be so advised.

Special instructions will be issued immediately to all employers regarding the suspension of arrears for registrants making premium payment through payroll deduction.

Leads Lost As Jitters Take Over

Fumbles will kill you in Canadian football. If proof is needed, ask the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, leaders in the Western Canada Conference.

Both clubs were winging to victories Saturday when a bad dose of greasy fingers led directly to their downfall.

Rough Riders, seeking their first victory over Toronto Argonauts in two seasons, led the Double Blue 19-17 with less than five minutes remaining when Bruce Cummings muffed a third-down snap.

Argos took over on the Ottawa five and cashed in on a touchdown by pint-sized Doug Poyer.

The result: Ottawa 19, Toronto 24.

BOMBERS BUNGLER

If Riders feel badly about the Cummings miscue, they might consider the case of the Bombers who had 9,600 hometown fans happy with a comfortable 9-0 third-quarter edge over the third-place Edmonton Eskimos. Then a couple of kids called Gerry-James and Palmer—developed the jitters, and their fourth-quarter fumbles were just what the Eskimos needed.

Before Bombers knew it, the Eskies whipped over two touchdowns with playing-coach Frankie Filchock directing traffic via the aerial route. Those fumbles cost the Bombers an 11-9 loss.

In other games Calgary Stampede climbed to within one point of the Bombers with a 30-20 victory over Regina Roughriders; the Big Four cellar-dweller Montreal Alouettes were crushed 30-12 by Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Balmy Beach made it 24-11 over Windsor and Sarnia trounced Brantford 18 to 0 in Ontario Rugby Football Union games.

MANY REASONS

The Als probably will blame an overcasted backfield, 93-degree weather and a squishy forward wall for their loss at Hamilton. They had fumbles that contributed to their loss but the main trouble was that fellows in the Tiger-Cat black and yellow uniforms were pouring in when the Als had possession of the ball.

Montreal Quarter Sam (The Rifle) Etchevery was plastered for big losses by linemen Vince Mazza, Vince Scott and Eddie Bevan. This was going on most of the afternoon but the final wilting of the Als came in the fourth quarter when Hamilton, leading 13-12, cracked over for three touchdowns.

The Stampede, paced by the sensational running of Johnny Bright and Dave West, spotted Regina a touchdown at the game-opening kickoff, went ahead 12-6 at the half and increased it to 18-6 going into the final quarter.

Bright galloped 67 yards for a touchdown and West scooted 112 yards down the side to add another that just about took the heart out of the Riders who have managed only two victories in seven times out.

Playing-coach Glenn Dobbs of the Riders connected for three touchdowns passes and Stampeder quarter Keith Sparta hit for two. The Ottawa-Toronto game was a thriller most of the way. Argonauts, league leaders with three straight victories, came from behind three times to tickle the crowd of more than 19,000 who sat in their shirt sleeves in 90-degree weather.

BASHIN' BILL BACK IN HIVE FOR HORNETS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 15 (BUP) — Bashin' Bill Ezinicki is back in hockey.

The rugged right-winger showed up here Sunday as the Pittsburgh Hornets prepared to open training camp. Ezinicki's appearance ended rumors that he is through with hockey and prefers professional golfing instead.

"Look, I'm here, aren't I?" he said.

At St. Catharines, the parent Toronto Maple Leafs of the N.H.L. also began training. There were 25 players invited, among them of course, Harry Lumley, the newly-acquired goalie from Chicago.

Only one notable was missing, Max Bentley, still at Devils' Sask. Bentley, who starts his 11th year, is holding out for a couple thousand bushels of grain. He'll report to camp once the harvest is in.

Albion Batting Cripples Lakers

Brilliant batting performances by Dennis Hendra and Eric Gladden provided a crushing defeat to Cowichan cricketers Sunday and boosted Albions into top position in the Victoria and District Cricket Association standings.

First to bat for the Victorians in the game played at Duncan, Hendra and Gladden both beat the century marks—the former scoring 101 runs, the latter 108 runs, not out.

Albions ran up 233 runs, not out. Albions ran up 233 runs, not out. Albions ran up 233 runs, not out.

League officials believe that the Hendra-Gladden performance was a record on the local scene.

It was the last league fixture for the Albions. The victory rocketed them ahead of the Incogs. They were tied prior to Sunday's game.

The current runner-up Incogs meet Five C's next Saturday afternoon for their last game. If the Incogs win it will mean they and Albions will share 1956 championship laurels.

Should this materialize, the executive will decide whether or not a playoff will be held, but it is likely that the names of both teams will go on the cup.

In Saturday games Albions defeated Five C's 153-148, R. Mainwaring of Albions scoring 68 runs, not out, George Payne registering a 74 not out for the losers; Oak Bay losing to Cowichan, 109-106, Lou Heppenstall, first Cowichan batter, leading his club with 66 runs not out; Incogs defeated Alcos, 103-48.

BELMONT STABLE LEVELLED

BELMONT, N.Y., Sept. 15 (UP) — Twenty-four valuable horses lay dead today in a burned stable at Belmont Park only a few feet away from the spot where a barn fire killed 22 thoroughbreds three months ago.

Damage was estimated at $350,000.

A four-alarm fire roared through 300-foot-long stable Sunday night, burning 23 horses to death in their stalls.

Another horse was burned so badly it had to be destroyed by hypodermic-injection.

The stable had been filled with horses for today's opening of Belmont Park's autumn season. A groom said the flames lit the famed Long Island race track "like Coney Island."

Track officials feared the death toll would rise higher as some of the rescued horses were burned severely, but every effort was being made to save their lives.

Mike Novick, a groom, braved the flames to rescue three horses, receiving burns on his hands and body that required hospital treatment.

Other grooms and stable boys led 22 whinnying horses to safety.

Smoke billowing from burning hay knocked out 12 firemen temporarily. They were treated on the scene and returned to firefighting.

Albert Patterson, a Long

Branch, N.J., groom, said the fire started at 7:40 p.m. E.D.T. in the 50-stall stable, which was adjacent to the barn destroyed in the million-dollar June fire.

"We had just finished watering the horses when I looked up and the place was lit up like Coney Island," Patterson said. "I grabbed an extinguisher but I realized it was too late. So I started lugging out horses."

Firemen extinguished the flames at 9:20 p.m. but smoke continued to curl up from the ruins of the building through the night.

Big If, a well-known stake horse owned by J. T. Maloney, and three other Maloney horses, were among those destroyed in the flames. Also killed was Tocoli, which had been favored to win the seventh race today in the opening of the Belmont Park meeting.

Tocoli was trained by Willie Knapp, who in 1919 rode Upset to victory against Man-o-War in "Big Red's" only defeat.

Three other Knapp horses—Wild Jamie, Buzzing Bee and Devil Spy—died in the fire.

Primate, a thoroughbred which was eligible for the Kentucky Derby, and Navy Page, a stakes-winning two-year-old owned by sportsman E. P. Taylor, of Toronto, were saved.

Belmont fire marshal George Fales said the cause of the fire had not been determined but it was believed a short-circuit in the 30-year-old stable might have started it. An investigation was being conducted.

Flames Kill 24 Horses

BELMONT, N.Y., Sept. 15 (UP) — Twenty-four valuable horses lay dead today in a burned stable at Belmont Park only a few feet away from the spot where a barn fire killed 22 thoroughbreds three months ago.

Damage was estimated at $350,000.

ARTS CENTRE DOUBLES CLASSES FOR TEACHING CITY CHILDREN

Doubling of children's art classes and a generally enlarged program are planned for the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria, directors announced over the week-end.

Painting classes for professional men and other adult classes will be established during the winter season to meet a demand.

Success of the summer painting classes conducted by J. W. G. "Jock" Macdonald, modern artist, led to the proposed ambitious program this fall.

Now showing at the centre's galleries, 1040 Moss Street, are: The Laura Evans Reid Memorial Exhibit, Ganymed facsimiles, and Bartolozzi engravings.

U.S. Officials Are Pessimistic Of Efforts to End Iran Oil Feud

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—United States officials are almost despairing in their efforts to end the Anglo-Iranian oil impasse.

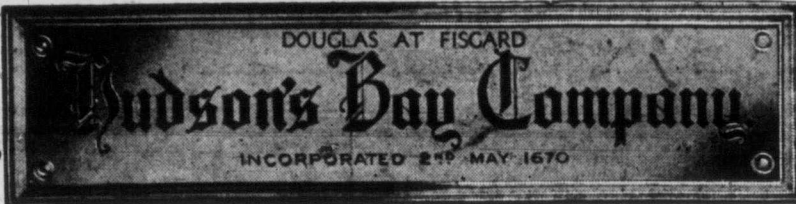

Authorities said privately today that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has shown no interest in the proposal sponsored by President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill Aug. 30 to get negotiations going again.

These officials, who had previously been counting on concessions made to Mossadegh in that proposal, have no new moves in readiness if the situation should get worse.

Two Italians who have been closely associated with the premier politically are due here soon and the oil situation is expected to concern them both. The attitude of U.S. officials, while leaving the door wide open to any overtures from them, holds no optimism regarding the outcome.

What has apparently stumped American officials, who have been trying to get Britain and Iran together and who have emphasized fears of a Communist take-over in Iran, is that two weeks ago in the Truman-Churchill offer they thought they had the whole situation wrapped up for settlement.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The sports page of the morning paper reported on Saturday that:

"Granny Gladstone, fresh from the pennant-winning Victoria COUGARS helped put the Portland Beavers into the first division."

No doubt he hit a line drive over the blue line.

The dog Punch worked himself into quite a state of excitement when he spotted a story on the society page the other day.

It stated that a "pound party" would be held on Oct. 2, and Punch jumped to the conclusion the party was in honor of the residents of the city pound.

He was most anxious to attend and share a home with some poor homeless doggy.

"Those boys at the pound don't have much fun," he said. "Hope they have a good time at their party. Do you suppose your favorite wife could bake a cake for 'em?"

Well, it turns out this pound party is not quite what Punch thought, but the cake idea is a sound one. The pound party will be held at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, and the principal is that you bring a "pound" of something.

Of course, the sponsors will not be offended if your pound weighs a ton or so.

Punch has also been following the letters to the editor column with some interest, because his good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maggs, are involved.

One lady wrote a letter to the editor saying Mr. Maggs, the S.P.C.A. inspector, spent too much time looking after doggies in the small animal shelter and that he should go around and about looking for people being cruel to animals.

Another lady wrote back and said Mr. Maggs was doing a fine job, and that every member of the S.P.C.A. should look out for people being cruel to animals.

Punch agrees with the second lady.

He says one man can't cover every backyard and basement and attic in Victoria, looking for neglected and ill-treated animals.

Punch says that every citizen should be on the lookout for cruelty to animals. He says that a citizen should also have a card, certifying that he is a member of the S.P.C.A.

"Then he can show this card if he sees an instance of cruelty to animals," Punch explained, "and prove that he has a right to interfere."

Punch adds that any interested citizen can obtain one of these cards by writing to the S.P.C.A., 111 Wilson Street, and enclosing a dollar bill, as registration fee.

He says that an even better idea is to drop around in person, and see how well the Maggs' run the small animal shelter there. And you never know—you might find some handsome young doggy waiting for you to take him home.

All in all, I gather that Punch is rather in favor of the S.P.C.A.

Tired old joke department: "How long was your last secretary with you?"

"She was never with us. She was against us from the start."

Counsel Argue On Affidavits For Divorce

B.C. Court of Appeal is being asked to decide whether Supreme Court should allow examinations for discovery in divorce proceedings.

The question, which is important in law, came before the court today.

R. D. Harvey, Q.C., is appealing a ruling by Supreme Court Judge Norman Whitaker, who refused an examination for discovery when counsel applied for such a hearing in an effort to obtain certain evidence from a man whose wife is seeking a divorce. The man, in this instance, in an affidavit admitted adultery but refused to testify in court.

An order by the court for an examination for discovery would have required him to appear to be questioned. Under Ecclesiastical Law, a man cannot be made to admit facts which would bring punishment to himself or cause him to be held in censure by the church.

John McConnell, who is solicitor for the husband, is arguing that Mr. Justice Whitaker's ruling was correct.

The husband in the case does not want a divorce.

The man's admission of adultery carries no weight in court since adultery must be proved in divorce proceedings. Otherwise, it would be an easy matter for a husband and wife, wanting to dissolve their marriage, to swear falsely that there were grounds for annulment.

Woman Prominent In Lumber Trade Dies in Calgary

Mrs. Olive Jean Barnstead, prominent in Canadian lumbering circles for many years, died in hospital in Calgary over the weekend following a brief illness. It was learned here today.

Born in Toronto, Mrs. Barnstead came west to Medicine Hat with her parents as a child. A graduate of the University of British Columbia, Mrs. Barnstead taught school at Michel, B.C., prior to her marriage in 1914.

She was the first woman licensed as a log scaler in B.C.

Chief Justice Said Probing Woods Problem

A Royal Commissioner in the person of Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan will conduct an inquiry into the British Columbia forest industry.

It is understood that he was invited to undertake the investigation by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, but what aspect of the province's leading industry was to be under review has not been revealed.

In 1945 the Chief Justice made a thorough examination of the lumber industry, and had all his recommendations accepted except that suggesting formation of an independent commission to guard the forest economy.

Today one of the biggest issues in the province is the pending application of the Celgar Corporation for a forest management license in the Arrow Lakes district, and plans for a $65,000,000 logging and pulp industry.

Chief Justice Sloan has neither affirmed nor denied reports of the appointment.

Mascot 'Pup' Coming Home With Veterans

Three Victoria veterans of the Korea war are aboard a ship carrying troops of the P.C.C.L. which will arrive in Seattle at 8:30 a.m. (P.D.T.) Wednesday. With them are 153 other Canadian soldiers and one dog.

The veterans are Private F. A. Hart, 25, of 1725 Beach, and Douglas G. Morgan, 22, of 1114 Lockley, both of the front-line Patricia's, and Pte. E. Walton, army service corps, whose address is listed as "General Delivery."

Pte. Hart suffered a shrapnel wound in April of this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morgan.

Pte. Hart is the son of Capt. F. G. Hart and Mrs. Hart. His father served with the Royal Canadian Navy in both world wars.

The dog, the first battalion's regimental mascot, is being repatriated in the custody of Lieut. W. R. Burton-Foster of Vancouver.

The repatriates will arrive on board the U.S. Navy troopship Gen. H. L. Howze. All will be sent to Vancouver on special buses and eastern soldiers will catch trains from there.

Dowell Claims City Owns Choice Sites

Some of the finest residential building sites in Victoria are city-owned, Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of council's lands committee, contended today.

He refuted the oft-heard remark that the city owns no building lots.

Vacant lands assessed at a total of $700,000 contain some excellent home-building areas," Ald. Dowell claimed. "We should sell them and get them on the tax roll. Some are serviced and some are not."

He stated a recent survey by the lands department and city manager revealed the city owns 1,800 parcels of improved, leased and vacant properties "assessed at over $1,000,000." This does not include the grain elevator.

Polio Suspect From Comox in Hospital Here

A suspected case of poliomyelitis—that of a 20-month-old baby girl of Comox, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital isolation on the weekend.

A second case, but one previously reported, went into isolation on the weekend for observation. Dr. J. L. Gayton, city medical health officer, said today.

She is a 13-year-old girl from Ladysmith. There is no paralysis, according to health authorities.

To date five persons in the Greater Victoria area have been reported as polio cases.

GREATER CAUTION

In handing down judgment, Magistrate Hall said Forscutt should have proceeded across the intersection with greater caution than he did.

Evidence at the trial revealed that the visibility at the intersection was poor.

Allan Cox, counsel for the accused, argued that the damage done to his client's car by the two motorcycles suggested that both Cole and Stranix were traveling at fairly high rates of speed.

AGED WOMAN DIES IN FALL FROM WINDOW

An 81-year-old Victoria woman fell 20 feet to her death Sunday from the window of her second-story room at 2604 Roseberry.

She was Mrs. Catherine Woodley, a widow.

Mrs. Woodley fell out of a window on the south side of the house and struck a holly tree before hitting the ground, police reported. The accident occurred at 3:30 p.m.

She was pronounced dead at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A rooming companion, Mrs. Catherine Stewart, said she saw Mrs. Woodley enter her room about an hour before the accident occurred.

Mrs. Woodley has no known relatives in Victoria. She has a stepson, Fred Woodley, living at Brandon, Man.

Driver Held Guilty After Fatal Crash

No Manslaughter Charge Authorized

Robert E. Forscutt, 574 Bay Street, was found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on a charge of careless driving arising out of a July 27 traffic accident which resulted in the death of 21-year-old Patrick J. Cole, 2754 Scott.

He was fined $50 and in default three days' imprisonment. His license was also suspended. Forscutt's hearing was postponed last Thursday until today at the request of the magistrate who instructed city prosecutor Alan E. Bigelow to see if there was sufficient evidence to lay a more serious charge against the accused.

Mr. Bigelow reported to the court at the start of today's trial that he had contacted the attorney-general and was instructed to proceed against Forscutt as charged.

The accident which resulted in the death of a motorcyclist occurred in the evening at the intersection of Cook and View. Cole and Barry R. Stranix, 20, of 2214 Sayward, riding abreast on their motorcycles, struck Forscutt's car in the intersection. Stranix suffered serious injuries from which he is recovering, and Cole died shortly after the accident.

Evidence at the trial revealed that the visibility at the intersection was poor.

Allan Cox, counsel for the accused, argued that the damage done to his client's car by the two motorcycles suggested that both Cole and Stranix were traveling at fairly high rates of speed.

To Minister Among Savages

Rev. and Mrs. Gordon D. Chapman of Victoria, with sons, Kenneth, 3½, and Richard, 2, await word from Indonesian consulate which will send them into wilds of Borneo. They will bring Christianity to the Dyaks, a savage people, who in remote parts of Borneo, still practice head hunting. Mr. Chapman, a missionary with the Christian and Missionary Alliance, is a brother of Chuck and Art Chapman, well-known city athletes. After learning the Malay language the family will travel by river far into the western part of Borneo to live in a Dyak native village for the next five years. (Times Photo.)

Road to Renfrew 'Worth a Fortune'

Loggers' Formula Urged For Speedy Construction

By DON INGHAM, Times Staff Reporter

A road to Port Renfrew is perfectly feasible, according to a party that covered more than half the distance from Jordan River westward on Sunday. As a tourist attraction, it would be worth a fortune, Victorians who saw the route, comment.

The four miles traveled out and back on foot is certainly not the best road-building country on the island, but neither is it the worst.

In fact, if a logging company was told that some prime timber waited for it at Port Renfrew, the road would be built in 60 days.

Here is the way Geoffrey I. Edgelow, Liberal candidate for Esquimalt in the June 12 election, and representative of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce on the hike, summed up the situation.

"Terrain yet to be crossed is certainly no worse than that already covered by Canadian Puget Sound Logging Company, and they now have a beautiful road within three miles of Loss Creek, and more than half way to Port Renfrew from Jordan River."

"People who would use the road would be happy to have a road like the logging road—it's certainly better than the unpaved portion between Sooke and Jordan River."

"If the government finds it too expensive, then it should get the logging companies to build the road. If the big companies don't, then the small loggers would be pleased to do it if some of the timber on government land in there were turned over to them to log."

"The big cry against the road has always been the crossing of Loss Creek, but that's a joke. It would require no more of a bridge than one seen many times between Sooke and Jordan River. Ald. Brent Murdoch of Victoria City Council was equally vehement again criticism of the project.

IMPRESSIVE FIGURES

"We're going to see the minister of public works about this thing," he said. "We have statistics in the Chamber of Commerce to show that according to population Vancouver Island deserves eight times the amount of road it has."

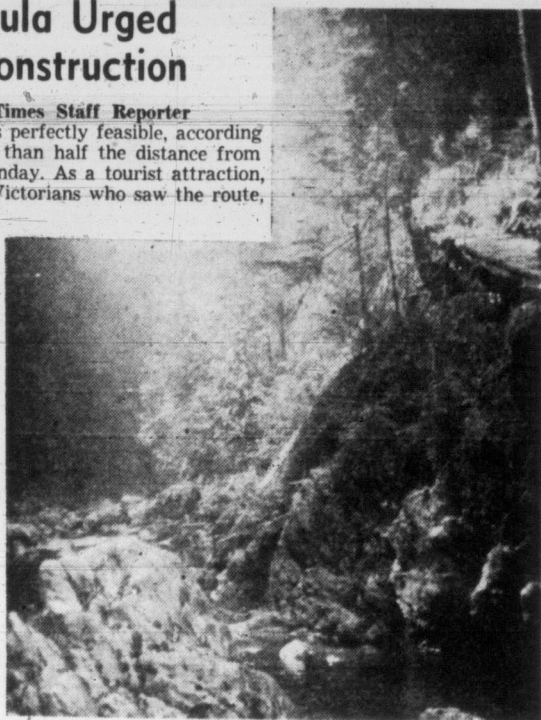

"Look at Port Renfrew, with a monthly payroll of $128,000. Most of that now goes by speeder to Duncan, Nanaimo and finally Vancouver, when the men earn it within a few miles of Victoria. There is no reason why those men should not be permanent residents of this part of the island who would spend their earnings here."

In the party that made the trip Monday were Mr. Edgelow, Ald. Murdoch, Hector Crombie of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Harry Helgesen of Sooke, Harry Vogel, Victoria, and this reporter.

ON OLD TRAIL

Led by Mr. Vogel, an experienced woodsman of 56 who built the Jordan River-Port Renfrew trail for the government in 1935, the party left Victoria at 7:30 a.m. and started walking at the extreme end of the Canadian Puget Sound Co. road at 10:45. By noon the party was at Loss Creek, having followed the same trail built by Mr. Vogel and a crew of three, one of whom was Mr. Helgesen.

After a quick lunch the party walked the first three-quarters of a mile of the trail to Sombrio Point, right on the coast.

Then, with Mr. Vogel's assurance that the country was identical to that already crossed, plans were made immediately for another trip within a few weeks, to go right through to Port Renfrew.

"This is the hardest part, though," Mr. Vogel said. "From Sombrio Point to Port Renfrew the country is flat to the shoreline. A highway would be within a stone's throw of the sea almost the whole way, and it would make one of the most beautiful and striking scenic drives possible."

AWKWARD CROSSING

Only exception would be Providence Cove, near Port Renfrew, he said, where the road would have to turn inland for a short way in order to avoid an awkward crossing.

Otherwise, the 11 miles from Sombrio Point to Port Renfrew would be a "cinch," he said.

"A loop road up the west coast to Port Renfrew, and then through to either Shawinigan or Cowichan Lake, would be worth a fortune as a tourist attraction," said Ald. Murdoch. "Tourists do not like back-tracking, and this would avoid it."

"It would boost the whole economic life of the southern end of the island," he added. "Victoria needs development like that. Logging, fishing and agriculture all would benefit by such a road."

Mr. Helgesen, who has hunted over most of the southern territory, pointed out that the valley of the San Juan River that flows almost due west from a source just a few miles from the headwaters of the Leech and Koksilah Rivers to Port San Juan and Renfrew, is one of the best truck farming sections of Vancouver Island.

TERRAIN DESCRIBED

Now, what does this "grim and rugged terrain"—apparently the sole reason for not carrying out promises made 50 years ago that a road would be built—actually look like?

There are several deep gullies

ASK The TIMES

Q.—I was a baseball fan in the days when the pros held forth at the old stadium, located on the present site of the Crystal Garden. Two of the players of the Victoria team of that period went up to the big leagues. They were a shortstop and catcher. Can you tell me their names?—Mr. D. T.

A.—The shortstop was Carter Elliott and the catcher Tony Rego.

Q.—Where and what is Canada's pre-Cambrian Shield?—Mr. P. S.

A.—This is the name applied to the exposed surface of the old pre-Cambrian continent which still forms part of Canada. It has an area of about two and a half million square miles. Its importance centres around the valuable mineral deposits it contains.

Its northern border crosses the Arctic archipelago and its eastern lies beyond Baffin Island and Labrador and reaches the depressed area of the St. Lawrence Valley, a short spur joining the Adirondack Mountains in New York. The southern boundary runs west to Georgian Bay and skirts the northern shores of lakes Huron and Superior. The western edge runs from the Lake of the Woods and Lake Winnipeg northwestward to Lake Athabasca and the basin of the Mackenzie River.

Autumn Tones Even Have An Effect on Nail Polish

By PENNY SAVER

Saw some glorious nail polish today. There were several shades that I would have picked for myself. They were in the scrumptious warm tones of autumn red. You know, that tinge the leaves take on when they change color.

You'd be surprised how welcome these red tones are after a summer of bright sizzling red that makes you jump every time a painted nail flashes by.

After talking to the clerk about the new shades for fall I asked if this particular make stayed on; if it chipped easily?

She told me that it was one of the best, but added that no nail polish would stand too much abuse. While she was talking she got onto the subject of hand care and I really learned quite a bit about what we should and shouldn't do to keep our hands in the proper condition to show off nail polish.

As we all know, the rigors of housework are not usually very kind to hands. Dishwashing, cleaning, gardening and cooking have a tendency to make nails break, polish chip and hands chap.

Constant care is the only answer to hand beauty. Become accustomed to using lotion or cream as many times a day as your hands are in water. And don't just touch the cream to your skin. Really massage so that you will stimulate circulation.

If your nails are continually breaking, try filing them (with an emery board, of course) in a square. In other words, don't shape your nails into an oval or point. The squarer your nail, the stronger it will be. This is because the sides lend support.

Until your nails become stronger, keep them fairly short. An important factor, naturally, is your diet.

When it comes to your polish, always apply a base coat, two coats of the polish itself, and then the top coat. If, however, the polish still chips, don't wear it during the day.

It is much better to use a colorless polish than to allow chipping to spoil the beauty of your hands.

Occasional attention will never show results. Hand care—to be effective—must follow a faithful daily schedule.

Baby 'Black Market' Is a Sinister, Criminal Racket

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Several weeks ago, I suggested to a childless couple that they adopt a baby and that they ask their doctor to help them make the arrangements. This brought a vigorous protest from a man who wrote:

(Q) "This advice encourages private adoption, by giving the doctor (or lawyer or religious leader) an opportunity to perform services for which he is ill-prepared. I further argue that your column encourages the black market in babies. I can think of no case in which it would be desirable to ask this advice of a doctor. The greatest problem facing legally recognized adoption agencies is the lack of children available for placement. Efforts are constantly made by social centres to encourage the persons with children to place for adoption to bring them to the adoption agency—not to doctors, lawyers, religious leaders. Your column undoes much of their good work."

(A) I protest this last statement hotly. When I advise a childless woman to consult her doctor about help in making arrangements to adopt a child, I don't encourage parents with illegitimate or legitimate children to turn them over to a doctor to farm out.

Perhaps I assumed that all doctors were honest and that none of them belonged to the black market baby racket. Any doctor who is a member of the American Medical Association and is on the staff of a recognized hospital would hardly stoop to such a practice for fear of losing his professional status, or for moral reasons, or both. I realize, of course, that not all doctors fall into this category.

Of course there are no adoption centres that take care of all areas of the country. But how can the average person, know where to turn to contact them unless she has advice from her doctor, lawyer or religious leader? These people not only know where to advise the childless couple to go in their own communities but they also know which adoption agencies are doing a good job and which are rackets.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Short rest periods are invaluable.

Are You Always Tired?
Try These Energy Ideas

How wonderful it would be if we never felt tired! Exhaustion can clip the wings of our spirit and make daily life almost unbearably dull. When one views life through the haze of chronic fatigue it is like looking at a landscape with impaired vision.

We do not derive the values we would otherwise have from the view, we do not do things we would have done and enjoyed, we are often irritable and our humor and enthusiasm lie gasping for survival. No matter how vibrant we usually are. This is the way we feel when we are weary.

A bigger portion of energy can make all the difference in the world in our enjoyment and personality and appearance. It can even cause us to hold ourselves more erectly. During Second World War great headway was made in discovering the causes of fatigue. This was vital because of the necessity of a huge and rapid output in the weapons of war.

Some of the facts which stood out after much experimentation and research were:

1. Nutrition can make a big difference. Certain vitamin deficiencies were correlated with fatigue. Vitamin lack generally was often at fault and vitamin C appeared to be a special aid to greater energy. Mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks were found to build output because they gave energy a boost.

2. Short rest periods were found to be invaluable.

3. It was found that even when working rapidly it was better to feel relaxed while working. Thus music was introduced into many factories.

4. Working in comfortable clothes and shoes were found to increase output greatly.

5. Equipment which was tailor made for the individual zoomed in importance. A man or woman working at a desk or bench which was too low or too high became fatigued long before another who had a desk or bench of the right height. So many things were discovered during the war about posture and good working equipment and so little of it has been put to use by the average woman in the average home.

One of the most vital factors in conserving energy is to learn to use your muscles in such a way as to cut down physical strain. Tomorrow I will give you some rules for this which you can use in your daily housework.

In the meantime if you would like to have my leaflet No. 56, "Pep," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Home-Cooking Sale—At recent meeting of St. Ann's Parents' Auxiliary, plans were made for a home cooking sale in public market on Sept. 20, convened by Mrs. P. Hartnell. A membership tea will be held Oct. 8, convened by Mrs. Matthers. Mrs. A. Holmes presided.

Many Enter St. Joseph's School Of Nursing for Three-Year Course

The following probationers have entered St. Joseph's School of Nursing to pursue a three-year course in nursing:

Mae-Lee Allen, June Bayly, Fay Brown, Marion Dods, Shirley Elliott, Mary Fletcher, Maud Carol Chivers, from Milne's

Hayes-O'Sullivan, Phoebe Leong, Daphne Luchinsky, Vivian Mar, Jacqueline Riecken, Beverly Wells, Sister Mary Perpetua, all of Victoria.

Ellen Anderson, from Sidney; Rev. H. M. Bolton officiated for the daughter of Mr. Arthur Francis, Vancouver, formerly of Brentwood, V.I., and late Mrs. Francis, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilman, Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a New York import of smoke blue silk taffeta, the full skirt falling in unpressed pleats for ballerina length and worn over a crinoline. French roses were tucked in the fine pleating which fans across the décolletage of the molded bodice, topped with a basque jacket with square neckline fitting under the pleated ruching on the bodice. A white feather hat, and white prayer book topped with white ribbons completed her bridal ensemble.

Mrs. Douglas G. Sherlock, Vancouver, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a peach silk taffeta dress with crinolined ballerina-length skirt topped with shrug jacket with stand-up collar and three-quarter length sleeves. Her feather hat was in tone and she carried blue delphiniums and stephanotis.

Thomas Fiddler, Victoria, was best man, and David Francis, Victoria, cousin of the bride was an usher.

Reception was held at Deerleap Farm, Metchosis, home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Francis. Hugh Francis proposed the toast.

For traveling up-island on her honeymoon, the bride wore a champagne beige wool dress-maker suit with brown accents, brown velvet hat and matching accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Party Planned—When members of the ladies' auxiliary to the Royal Society of St. George met recently at the home of Mrs. A. Chatton, Bowker Avenue, plans were made for a card party in Oct. at the home of Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 563 Manchester Road.

Following have entered the School of Radiography and Medical Technology in St. Joseph's Hospital: Anna Mottram, Audrey Rice, Barbara Rose, Iona Stewart, Victoria; Bernice Liddiard, Barbara Foster, Royal Oak; Nancy Burdett, Edna Kirkland, Nanaimo; Esther Bertelsen, Ellen Bertelsen, Violet Belle Nicols, Barbara Shepherd, Vancouver; Doris Eisenhut, Oliver; and Ronald Thacker, England.

New Toni

WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION

Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

Which Twin's Toni was set a week ago—and which was set today?

Yes, both twins have Toni's. Julia Lacy, on the left, had hers set just before this picture was taken—Cynthia, on the right, had her Toni set one whole week before and never re-set it! You can't tell the difference. Here's proof that Priceless Pink Lotion gives a wave that stays lovely without re-setting!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! That means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

Autumn Tones Foil for Bride's Gown at Hagar-Marshall Wedding

The rich tones of autumn flowered in the gowns of the bridesmaids who attended Julia Lee Marshall at her wedding. Friday evening to John Stewart Hagar in Church of St. George the Martyr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, 1147 Newport Avenue, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Hagar, 1802 Oak Bay Avenue. Rev. William Hills officiated.

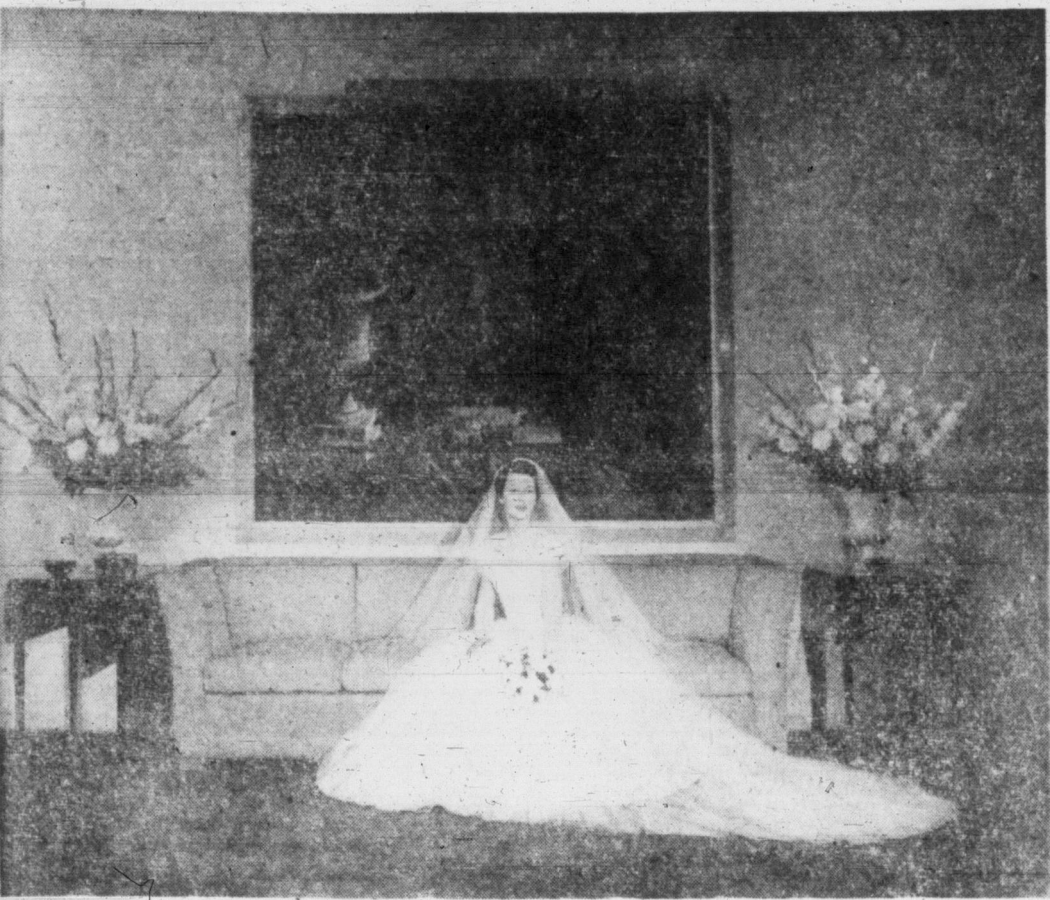

A Mary Queen of Scots head-dress complemented the gown worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The gown was ballerina length fashioned of nylon net over taffeta. Full panels of white lace with scalloped edge dipped low on one side. Her chapel veil of silk illusion net, bordered with lace, was set off with strands of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Topping her white prayer-book, which belonged to her paternal grandmother, was a tiny bouquet of white heather and pink pinocchio roses.

For traveling to and from the church, the bride donned a white silk embroidered shawl, which had belonged to the maternal pink and felt hat. Upon return, Bridesmaid Miss Marion Jones and maid of honor, Miss Edith Moir, were dressed alike in primrose yellow and apple green respectively. Their ballerina-length gowns were complemented with harmonizing shoulder capes and dainty ruffled bonnets. They carried cascade bouquets of golden bronze chrysanthemums, pink asters and white stephanotis. Best man was Thomas Hepple and ushering were John Burr, Kenneth Barnes and Kenneth O'Shea.

At a reception in the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds cut a three-tiered wedding cake, ornamented with silk flowers, which were featured on the cake of the groom's maternal grandparents. Flanking garlands of heather in pink and white tones and myrtle were tall white candles in silver holders. Rev. Hills proposed the toast.

For honeymooning on the mainland, Mrs. Hagar chose a southern-blue wool suit and matching top coat. Her accessories matched an apple blossom

JACK CHADWICK

Well known in Victoria business and professional circles, Mr. Chadwick's career in this city dates back many years. Son of Canon F. A. P. Chadwick, formerly of St. John's Church, Jack attended Trinity College School at Port Hope and University School in Victoria. His McGill University course was interrupted in 1917 when he joined the Royal Air Force.

Following his marriage in 1921 to Vivienne Charlton, he moved to San Francisco where he was active in the stocks and bonds business until returning to Victoria in 1946.

For three years Mr. Chadwick held the position of secretary of the Pacific Club. The Chadwicks make their home on Holland Avenue.

Mr. Chadwick accepted the position of Office and Credit Manager of Cec Fletcher's Men's Shop last April, an appointment which will be of interest to a wide circle of Victoria businessmen, who are warmly invited to call in at Cec Fletcher's and re-

Italian Pizza Makes Delicious Meatless Main Dish for Family

Meatless dishes are the order of the day, so from sunny Italy we've borrowed the recipe for one of the most flavorful ones we know. Pizza is called—red-ripe tomato and nippy cheese, seasoned generously with onion, baked in a tender, golden-brown crust, and served bubbling hot from the oven.

In its native land, pizza is made, not with the fresh fruit, but with a puree of tomatoes, smooth in texture and spiced just so. Here at home, you can achieve the same effect with condensed cream of tomato soup, the kind you buy in tins at your corner grocery or local help-yourself. Beautifully blended and expertly seasoned, this canned soup makes as fine a pizza as you'd find in all of Italy.

PIZZA (ITALIAN TOMATO PIE)

1 cake compressed yeast,
1 cup lukewarm water,
1 pound sifted all-purpose flour (4 cups),
1 teaspoon salt,
5 tablespoons salad oil,
1½ cups sliced onions,
2 10-ounce cans condensed cream of tomato soup, undiluted,
½ cup water,
2 teaspoons cider vinegar,
½ teaspoon oregano,

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Combine flour and salt in large bowl; add dissolved yeast and 2 tablespoons salad oil. Knead thoroughly 10 minutes. Let stand in warm place 3 hours. Prepare sauce by sautéing onions in 3 tablespoons salad oil until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients except cheese and simmer uncovered 35 minutes, stirring frequently. When dough has risen, spread in well-greased 12" x 16" pan or make 2 11-inch pies on greased cookie sheets. Turn edges up slightly. Pour sauce over dough, spread within top of the sauce, just before sprinkling with the cheese. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 30 to 40 minutes. Serves 4 to 5.

Raisin Pie Supreme

Add to your special pie recipe collection this fruity prize winning raisin pie. It is the recipe of Mrs. Arthur Pearson of Modesto, Calif., who won a large golden trophy and deluxe automatic gas range as first prize in a recent raisin pie baking contest. It is sure to win praise from the family and guests for its rich flavor and wholesome goodness.

FILLING
One cup water, ¼ cup juice from canned pears, 1 cup sugar, 4 tbs. cornstarch, 1 tbs. lemon juice, 2 tbs. orange juice, 1 tsp. butter, 1 cup diced canned pears (well drained), 2 cups raisins (seedless).

Heat water, pear juice, lemon and orange juice to boiling. Add raisins. Boil five minutes. Mix cornstarch and sugar together. Add to raisin mixture. Cook until thick and clear. Fold in diced pears. Let cool slightly. Pour filling into unbaked pie shell. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust. Brush top crust with cream. Bake in 450 degree oven for 15 minutes and then 350 degrees for 25 minutes more.

PASTRY
One and a half cups sifted flour, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ cup plus one tablespoon of shortening, ice water to hold mixture together. Sift flour and salt together in mixing bowl. Add shortening and blend until like coarse meal. Add just enough ice water, a little at a time, to hold mixture together. Roll out on floured board or pastry canvas.

Kiddies Use Pop Corn to Mold Toys and for Party Decorations

Here's an interesting, practical and constructive way you can keep the children busily engaged during rainy days ahead. Let them pop corn, mix it with cooked syrup just as you do in making pop corn balls, and mold it into a hundred and one different shapes and articles. For example, a real popcorn fort would not only make an absorbing project for any boy or girl, but would also serve as a gay and attractive centerpiece at your next children's party.

It's really easy to make, too. Simply pop about eight quarts of pop corn. One 10-ounce can of a nationally advertised brand of pop corn pops 10 to 12 quarts, so if you get this really good popcorn there's plenty extra for the kiddies to munch on while they make their fort.

And, of course, you want good popcorn—popcorn that's guaranteed to pop crisp, tender, and delicious every time. When the corn is popped, mix with cooked syrup as the binding force that makes the molding possible. It is best to make the syrup in small batches and mix with small amount of popped corn to prevent the mixture from being too stiff and hard while working with it. For this reason, we are giving you the syrup recipe for enough to mix with approximately three quarts of popped popcorn. To make the syrup:—One cup sugar, ½ cup white corn syrup, ¼ cup water, ¼ cup butter, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. vanilla. Stir and cook sugar, corn syrup, water, butter and salt until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring (270 deg.) until sugar forms a brittle ball in cold water. Add vanilla. Pour syrup slowly over pop corn, mix well to coat every kernel.

Place the mixture in square cake pans, and press down until you have a fairly even layer about one inch thick. For bricks or blocks, to make the fort, cut in pieces about one inch long and a half inch wide. From these blocks the child can construct the walls of the fort.

For the base of the cannon, simply press a portion of the mixture into a small refrigerator dish, or any similar shaped dish. To mold the barrel of the cannon, roll a piece of cardboard in the shape of the barrel, and pack the popcorn mixture into it. A small piece of wire down through the center will give the barrel more support and rigidity. Four paper clips, straightened out, can be used to hold the barrel to the base of the cannon. Another paper clip inserted into the rear-end of the barrel, with a rubber band attached serves as a lanyard for firing it.

And now comes the interesting part—making the little colonial soldier. He is simply made from three balls of pop corn, with raisins for eyes, nose, mouth and buttons. A triangle-shaped piece makes the hat, with another raisin on top for added effect. The trees are easy, simply clip small pieces from cedar or any other small needled evergreen. Insert them in modeling clay and presto! You have real-life-like trees around the fort.

There are so many other things kiddies can do with pop corn this interesting way. As a modelling medium it is inexpensive and easy to handle. Whenever the mixed pop corn and syrup seems to get a little too stiff to handle, quick warming in the oven makes it pliable again. The ingenuity of children is marvelous to watch. Get them some pop corn and watch their creative imaginations work wonders.

Bridge-Tea—At a meeting of St. Joseph's Alumnae, held recently at the home of Mrs. J. Maltman, Monterey Avenue, plans were made for autumn bridge and tea to be held at nurses' home, September 24.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

—Mrs. A. W.
A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Liquid Skin Sachet. Available in 3 famous fragrances: Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Le Parfum Ideal. Only $2.

Canada's New Living Cost Index Will Include Even Baby Sitters

By BRIAN O'LEARY
Times Ottawa Correspondent

Statistics in which baby sitters will play a part.

Yes, it seems that those sweet young high school bobby-soxers have finally wormed their way into staid government statistics.

For years, the long-haired statisticians have ignored the juke-box crowd who mind junior while you're out for a night.

Beginning in October, however, they will be fully itemized with the greatest of care along with refrigerators and fuel oil, rent and vegetables.

Federal Statistician Herbert Marshall said today the government's new consumer price index should be ready by October 1. It will replace the old cost of living index.

In the new index, he said, costs for baby sitters will be included. The new index will be issued monthly like the old one showing where prices stand from month to month.

The new consumer price index is based on a 10,000 family survey made in 1947-48 across the nation on the real spending habits of families whose incomes ranged from $1,600 to $14,000 per year.

"We expect to issue the new consumer price index by the first of October," Mr. Marshall said today. "The old cost of living index will be issued along side it for about six months so Canadians can make a comparison between the new and old."

About 225 items of goods and services will be covered in the new consumer price index, he said, some 65 more than in the former cost of living index.

Both the old and new price indexes are intended merely to measure and record price changes, Mr. Marshall said. Neither took account of changing living standards, he said.

On Army's Casualty List

OTTAWA, Sept. 15 (CP)—The army today issued its 134th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting one officer and one man dead, of wounds, three men wounded, and three injured in action.

The last previous list was issued Sept. 12.

Today's list brought to 1,020 the number of casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action, including 184 dead, 753 wounded, 72 injured in action, 10 missing and one captured.

The list:

GROUP SEEKS ABOLITION OF RENT CONTROL

A delegation from the Vancouver Real Estate Board will ask the provincial cabinet this week to do away with rent controls.

The province has had charge of rent control since 1951, when the federal government regulations ceased. Landlords have sought lifting of the controls for some time, but have been opposed by tenant groups.

Council Salaries Before Taxpayers

Esquimalt taxpayers' Association is resuming activities after a two months' recess.

The association is planning a meeting Wednesday evening at 8 in the lower auditorium of Esquimalt High School.

Among questions to be discussed are: higher pay for municipal councillors; employment of a full-time municipal engineer; progress on municipal road construction; changes to the association's constitution and by-laws.

District Soccer

Final arrangements for the opening of the 1952-53 soccer season will be made at a Victoria and District Football League meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the British Public Schools Club.

Esquimalt and Canadian Legion eleven's will collide in the season's opener next Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park. Game starts at 2:30.

Red Feather Symbolizes Spirit of Service

By DON INGHAM

Two widely divergent groups which share in the Red Feather Services activities, and contribute in their own ways the best they have for public welfare, are the Boy Scouts and Victorian Order of Nurses.

The scouts are well known to all. Their community service work ranges from provision of an emergency crew of 20 boys trained in first aid and rescue to assisting with traffic counts.

The little Cubs in their trim green-shirted uniforms also prepare themselves for service in the community. One of the most active packs is that at the Chi-ness Benevolent Society School, and certainly one of the finest is a pack for handicapped boys.

They learn that their handicaps keep them from only a small portion of Cub activities. They study signaling, knot-tying, handicrafts, and other pursuits, and when hikes are organized they are taken to the campsite in the scout truck and contribute toward the whole expedition equally with the others.

WORK IN HOMES

Lesser known, perhaps, are the blue-uniformed nurses of the V.O.N. Their work is done mainly inside the home where they were faced with rapidly dwindling savings.

The V.O.N. was invited to help. A nurse shared the burden of caring for the husband, secured a proper hospital bed, and showed the wife how to minimize the effort of providing care.

It is this kind of work, unknown to many but providential to those who need it, that is made possible by contributions to the Red Feather organizations, come to retire in Victoria, but which will seek concrete support who ran into ill health—the bus of their efforts with a campaign hand with a heart-conditions and in Victoria and district starting Sept. 29.

Warns Against Loss of Rights

DUNCAN, Sept. 15—A government is not the master, but the agent of the people who elect representatives, Finance Minister E. M. Gundersen told the Duncan Chamber of Commerce Friday night.

"Democracy must be kept alive," he said, "and this can only be done by living it. We are all citizens of the community, the province, the dominion, and the world, and we must respect all peoples to keep it alive."

He warned against societies and organizations becoming more important than the individual, and stressed the value of discussion in order that people become active to affairs affecting them.

The minister said true democracy contained personal freedom of the individual and the attitude of mind that looks for improvement.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Smoking Not Necessarily Harmful to Stomach Ulcer

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Q.—Is it harmful for a person who has had an operation for ulcer of the stomach to smoke four or five cigarettes a day?

E. S.

A.—Not necessarily; some patients can apparently smoke moderately without any evidence of harm. Doctors vary somewhat, one from another, in their opinion on the safety or harmfulness of smoking in the presence of stomach ulcers.

Q.—Who determines the sex of a child, the male or the female?

Reader.

A.—The sex of an unborn child is determined at the moment that the father's sperm enters the mother's egg. The sex of the child lies in the arrangement of certain chromosomes present both in the egg and in the sperm—the egg has only one kind of sex chromosome, but the sperm may contain one of two kinds.

The sex of the unborn child depends on whether the sperm entering the egg contains the kind of chromosome which leads to maleness or the kind leading to femaleness. The sex of a child is determined by the male.

Q.—What is meant by high sedimentation? Is there any treatment for this?—Miss B. L.

A.—This refers to a test of the blood which is commonly performed, particularly in the presence of infections. In most infections the red blood cells settle through the serum more rapidly than usual and this is described as a high or rapid blood sedimentation test.

The test is not a disease, nor is it a sign of any specific disease, and therefore does not require treatment. It is, however, one method of helping to make a diagnosis and following the course of certain diseases and the results of treatment.

which an operation might be useful?—E. D. N.

A.—It sounds as though a piece of cartilage might have pulled loose and might be responsible for the locking in the joint. If this turns out to be the definite diagnosis, an operation could be performed, and such operations have been done many times with great success.

EVERYTHING FOR HOME BUILDERS

JUST ARRIVED

Another carload of Tennessee Southern No. 1 Southern Pine, with new exchange an American means new pine in the south. These pine are cheaper than ordinary softwood flooring. Oak flooring is attractive, easy to lay in tongue and groove and matched pattern. Order early as this stock is going fast.

IT'S NEW—IT'S DIFFERENT

The new MAN-O-TILE wall covering. Linum type material in attractive new patterns has the appearance of real tile—yet no lines to interfere with washing or scrubbing. Ideal for kitchen and bathrooms. Just cement it to the wall over cracked plaster or joint in five levels: cedar, peach, gray, green, in blue, white.

FARMS FOR SALE

AN ATTRACTIVE TRADE. Our client has one of the best farms on Vancouver Island. One hundred and twelve acres, about 60 under cultivation. Most bottom land being an old lake bed. This has been drained by government. Paved and gravelled roads. Five-roomed newly-built home but needs some finishing. Two new chicken barns. Over 50 tons of hay and oat hay in the barn. Ford Ferguson tractor, implements and stock. Here is a farm that will be appreciated by a real farmer. Will trade for store revenue or home in Victoria. Will pay balance or accept balance in cash. Call B. O. Nor, B 7776, or W. H. McMahon, Alton 2738

GOOD STOCK FARM

160 ACRES, 66 miles west of Edmonton. Nice lake, lots of water and pasture. About 40 acres broken. All necessary buildings, older type, but solid. Oil has been found 30 miles away. Good hunting and fishing. Trade for Victoria or district property. Further particulars, Box 835, Victoria Press

YOU'RE NOT ALONE... if you need CASH

In all probability, you shared the same bus or streetcar this morning with other people who are planning to borrow money, for one out of seven Canadians borrows each year.

So you're not alone in having to borrow money to meet an unexpected demand for ready cash; it happens every day. Niagara, the home of the friendly loan, will meet your needs at just such times as these.

Again, you are not alone in your problem. Your friendly Niagara counsellor is ready, willing and able to help you. You will like his friendly manner, his fast action in your behalf. If a cash loan is the answer, you may secure up to $1,000, life-insured at no extra cost. Rates are moderate, you can spread payments over many months. The Niagara Finance Company has helped many of your own neighbours to balance their budgets. If we can serve you, phone or come in.

Leafs Remain In Running by Downing Royals

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (CP).—Ed Stevens and Lew Morton provided the necessary batting power Toronto Maple Leafs needed Sunday to stay in the running of the International Baseball League semi-finals as the Leafs trounced the Montreal Royals, 9-3. The Royals lead the best-of-seven series 3-2.

Stevens got a homer and two singles for a perfect day at the plate while Morton got a double and his 18th home run of the year.

In their win, Leafs broke a 3-3 tie with a five-run barrage in the fifth inning.

The teams now move to Montreal to finish the series.

The winner will meet the Rochester Red Wings, who took four straight from Syracuse Chiefs, in a best-of-seven final series for the Governor's Cup.

ATTENTION, WRECKERS!

Bested tenders will be received by the City Clerk, City Hall, Victoria, B.C., up until noon on Thursday, September 25, 1952, for the demolition and removal of the buildings known as follows:

2145 Spring Road, 116 Memorial Crescent, 493-85, Charles Street.

Offers to be submitted on form of tender available in this office and each offer must be accompanied by a certified deposit cheque for $100.00 made payable to the City Treasurer.

The highest or any offer will not necessarily be accepted.

G. F. SHARPE, City Purchasing Agent.

B.C. Doctors Meeting Here

Leading members of the medical profession met in Victoria today as the Canadian Medical Association (B.C. Division), opened its annual convention at Empress Hotel. Dr. Frank Turnbull (left), chairman of the general assembly sessions, is shown chatting with Dr. Ethlyn Trapp, former president of the division, and Dr. Wallace Wilson, one-time president of the C.M.A. All three practice in Vancouver.

MEDICINE NO MYSTERY

Doctors Will Make Policies Public

The medical profession in British Columbia this morning took a long step forward in an attempt to draw back the curtain of mystery which has surrounded the practice of medicine.

At the general assembly of the annual convention of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Medical Association which opened at the Empress Hotel, the delegates:

1. Opened their private deliberations to the press, with no restrictions;

2. Unanimously approved the principle of a weekly radio broadcast to present the "doctor's viewpoint" to the public.

"We are attempting to move away from our previous policy of Olympian isolation," Dr. Gordon Johnston of Vancouver, chairman of the public relations committee, stated in presenting his report.

This is the first time that general assembly has met under the eye of the public. The guiding committee on professional policy in B.C., the assembly has previously met behind closed doors and released no statements.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank Turnbull, Vancouver, the assembly met this morning to consider the treasurer's report; a suggestion for group insurance and pension plans for doctors; and other matters of internal interest in the B.C. division.

Dr. J. A. Ganshorn, Vancouver, president-elect who will take office at the annual dinner Thursday, was named as representative on the board of the Canadian Medical Association. Attempts of Dr. Wallace Wilson and Dr. Ethlyn Trapp to make Dr. Ganshorn's appointment effective for three years instead of one, were defeated.

When the B.C. profession initiates its weekly radio broadcasts—likely in late October—it

Women Hikers Reported Lost Safe and Well

Two young women hikers who left Jordan River Saturday on a trip cross-country to Port Renfrew, arrived back in Jordan River today.

Mrs. M. J. Thornley, Verdier Road, Keating, and Mrs. A. J. Slater, Saturna Island, sisters, telephoned to another sister, Mrs. Lorna Hansen, on their arrival.

They told Mrs. Hansen that at no time were they lost, but that on investigation of an inland trail from Sombrio Point to Port Renfrew, they could see a long hike before them.

Therefore, in order that no alarm would be caused, they turned back to Jordan River, and made plans for a second jaunt next week-end.

Until today the only sign of the women had been their footprints, seen Sunday on the north side of Lewis Creek by a party from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce (see story page 13). They apparently were heading down the trail to Sombrio Point.

Train Smash Injures Three

Alert C.P.R. Conductor Averts What Could Have Been Disaster

MATTAWA, Ont., Sept. 15 (BUP)—An alert conductor was praised today for averting a "disaster" when the C.P.R.'s crack No. 9 passenger train roared out of a fog and slammed into a second passenger train stopped on the mainline near the Quebec border west of here.

There were 200 passengers aboard both trains and no one was killed. Four crewmen and 104 passengers were shaken up. Six or seven were believed held overnight at Mattawa hospital.

A Canadian Pacific official said upwards of 150 persons might have been killed in the Sunday crash had it not been for the quick thinking of W. H. Quinn, 50, conductor on the eastbound train headed for Montreal. He pulled emergency brake cord when he saw that his train had passed a siding about four and one-half miles west of Mattawa. He knew the train was to have moved onto the siding to permit the westbound No. 9 to pass.

The eastbound No. 10 was at a dead halt when No. 9 smashed into it and lifted the standing locomotive high into the air. The two engines were welded together by the impact and torched were needed to separate them.

Five cars of express and baggage acted as the buffers that saved the lives of all. The buffer cars were smashed and shredded. The passenger coaches received a terrific jolt but none was damaged or derailed.

"It was like a bolt of lightning hitting us," said Mrs. Ernest Ablette, of Vancouver, who was hospitalized with Henry Lee Cook, Winnipeg, and J. R. Meekes, publisher of the Sudbury (Ont.) Star.

"It was like getting hit with a hammer," she said. "My husband didn't realize what was happening but I thought a bomb had gone off."

One wrecked express car was hurled from the track and cut all telegraph communications between Ottawa and North Bay for several hours. C.P.R. police said it was still not known just how the accident happened but they believed the fog had hidden the signal the eastbound train needed before swinging on to the siding.

Boyd Still at Large But Case 'Cracking'

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (BUP)—The Edwin Alonzo Boyd gang entered a second week of freedom today, apparently no nearer capture than last Monday when the master bank robber and three confederates walked out of Don Jail.

There were indications, however, that the case was beginning to "crack."

Detectives said the Toronto underworld made its first "feeler" for the $26,000 reward money during the week-end and they hoped for a break soon.

Detectives now believed the gang still were in the city. "They wouldn't dare move until the heat's off," a senior officer said. They also thought it possible leads within the city itself.

FINAL BULLETINS

R.C.M.P. Hunt Hit-and-Run Driver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 15 (CP) — R.C.M.P. up the B.C. coast have been alerted to be on the lookout for a 19-year-old fisherman who is wanted in connection with a fatal traffic accident here Thursday.

Police say they believe the youth was the driver of the car that struck and killed Phillip Harrison, 66, and dragged his body for a block.

Shantz New Socred President

VERNON, B.C., Sept. 15 (CP)—L. Hugh Shantz, Vernon grocery store proprietor and member of the Legislature for North Okanagan, has been named the new president of the B.C. Social Credit League, it was learned here today.

He replaces Labor Minister Lyle Wick's who stepped down when he assumed a cabinet post.

It ain't much of a step from pickin' cabinet ministers y' haven't got t' dismissin' a House that hasn't met.

Pears there ain't no truth t' the rumor that Wick was around t' the hotel early 'day t' see if one o' them convention doctors could cure a political headache.

Seems that Boyd gang has about 10,000 members.

Both Sides to Vote On Plan Wednesday

Separate meetings will be held Wednesday night at which city painters and painting contractors will vote on a new wage proposal for ending the strike which has kept some decorating shops closed for 78 days.

Bargaining committees of both union and management agreed to the new proposal terms gave painters an immediate wage increase of 20 cents an hour and assurance of an additional 10 cents an hour next Jan. 1.

This formula, applied here, would give brush painters an hourly rate of $1.77 from now until the end of the year, and brush painters, $1.87.

At the beginning of the year the rate would be $1.87 for brush work and $1.97 for spray. The Victoria strike affects about 70 men. Their walkout began 78 days ago.

Painter picket lines are preventing work on three major projects: Oak Bay Junior High School, Work Point Army cookhouse and the Esquimalt Army housing development.

Up until today, painters maintained they would not settle for anything short of a 30-cent hourly increase. Painting contractors held that a 16-cent raise was the most they could afford to pay.

If both sides approve the new wage proposal at their Wednesday night meetings, formal settlement of the strike could come Thursday.

The painters' strike is now the only dispute still unsettled on the local construction scene.

THE LATE DR. A. GARESCHKE

Dr. Garesche, Famed City Dentist, Dies

Dr. Arthur J. Garesche, who was without question Canada's oldest and longest-practicing dentist, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Dr. Garesche was 91. He would have marked his 92nd birthday next month.

Dr. Garesche had been practicing dentistry for more than 70 years. He'd been looking after Victorians' teeth since 1885.

Born in Volcanville, Calif., he came to Victoria in 1886, when he was six years old.

He moved to Philadelphia later and started work in a railroad machine shop, before deciding to become a dentist. He took his apprenticeship in Portland, Ore.

He kept up his practice until June of this year, when his health finally gave out on him.

He is survived by his wife, Millicent, at the family home, 1155 Fairfield Road; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Cropp and Mrs. Celia Lauder; a grandson, John Lauder, and a granddaughter, Miss Brenda Cropp; one sister, Mrs. Clara Laine, in Havana, Cuba.

Requiem High Mass will be sung for Dr. Garesche Thursday morning at 9 a.m. at St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor is in charge of arrangements.

Pearson in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 15 (AP) — Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, arrived in Paris today for a meeting with North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials.

Pearson will turn over the post of president of the N.A.T.O. council this week to Ole Bjorn Kraft, Danish foreign minister.

"Canada is in its infancy as one of the big industrial nations," he continued. "Canada is the source of more than one-half the entire newsprint supply of the world and, as a nation, is the greatest producer of both pulp and newsprint. The industry today is the greatest bread-winner and creator of national wealth in our country."

Perpetual supply of pulpwood for the Duncan Bay plant was the basis of the development, Mr. Cooper said. It operates on salvage, small trees and materials not previously considered of commercial value. By cropping the acres in its forest management preserve, and by introducing new equipment to the industry, the company can assure employees, customers, stockholders and government that a fair balance between timber cut and growth will be maintained, he added.

Guests of the company were shown the operation of what Mr. Cooper termed the "push button" mills.

Canadian Western Lumber Company Ltd. and Pacific Mills Ltd., of which Mr. Cooper is president, joined forces to finance the Duncan Bay undertaking. (See full story of plant ceremony on Page 21).

BLUSHING FACE AND GREEN BODY

Glowing Monster Whose Smell Makes People Sick 'Seen' in U.S.

SUTTON, W.Va., Sept. 15 (UP)—Eyewitness accounts of a tall, glowing monster with a blood-red face skulking in the hills divided Braxton County today into two camps—believers and skeptics.

Seven persons said they saw the unearthly being, described as "worse than Frankenstein," in the hills above Flatwood, W.Va., Friday night.

State police and a number of residents hooted at the reports as a product of mass hysteria. Police said the eye-witnesses' guess as to the monster's height varied from seven to 17 feet.

The excitement began when the two young sons of Mrs. Kathryn May, a Flatwood beautician, said they saw a "flying saucer" land on C. B. Fisher's farm near here.

Mrs. May, National Guardsman Gene Lemon and five boys climbed a hill on the Fisher farm to look for the "saucer."

Mrs. May said a "fire-breathing monster, 10 feet tall with a bright green body and a blood red face," bounced and floated toward them. "It looked worse than Frankenstein," she said. "It couldn't have been human."

Lemon, 17, said he thought he saw a "possum or a coon until he put his flashlight on "the thing." It was then that he saw the monster with the blushing face and green body "that seemed to glow."

Mrs. May said Lemon stared and then screamed as the monster duckwalked toward them. All of them fled, occasionally looking over their shoulders.

The monster, Mrs. May said, had an overpowering metallic odor that nauseated them. She said they vomited for several hours.

Authorities said they believed the "flying saucer" which Mrs. May's son saw was a meteorite. The incident occurred during a meteor shower over a three-state area.
